FARM PROBLEM GETS PRIORITY

Brandenburg in Race For State Senate Seat; Seeks GOP Nomination

By Ray Brandenburg
(Candidate for Republican nomination for state senator)

Ray Brandenburg, farmer and businessman, today formally announced his candidacy for the Republican nomination for state senator at the May 8 primary elections.

The announcement did not come exactly as a surprise to those who have been watching the political scene, because he has been under pressure for some time by those interested in having strong and positive representation from this five-county district in the upper house of the state Legislature.

Brandenburg, a lifelong Republican, is a member of the party's central committee in Fayette County and its finance chairman since 1952. He first began taking an active part in Republican affairs when he headed the Robert A. Taft-for-senator committee here and later was the county finance chairman for Sen. Taft when he sought the Republican presidential nomination in 1952. He was a delegate to the party's national convention in Chicago that year, when President Eisenhower got the nomination.

In announcing his candidacy, Brandenburg issued a brief statement, written on a piece of paper in his own handwriting. A combination of declaration of candidacy, a pledge to serve and appeal for support, it said:

"I will, if elected, do my best to represent all of my constituents fairly and honestly.

"I will devote all my energy toward successfully solving any task assigned to me.

"I will earnestly and sincerely make every effort to prove to

Runaway Girl, 12, Found In Ravine

ALTADENA, Calif. (AP)—Rescued after four nights in the chilly San Gabriel Mountains, a 12-year-old runaway girl was reported in good condition today in a hospital.

Dr. J. H. Nash said Gail McCaughey, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Carl D. McCaughey, was suffering from shock, exposure and possible frostbite. He added, however, that her legs are still too stiff from the cold to determine if one is broken.

Gail ran away from home following a spat with her mother Friday morning. Yesterday a sheriff's helicopter pilot spotted her lying in a ravine in Rubio Canyon, about 3 miles from her home.

Maybe we'll just ignore them when spring really does seem to be on the way. Maybe we'll have to. What do you do with a crazy robin?

March of Dimes To Fight Polio Under Way Now

Victims Of Malady To Get Treatment From Contributions

The 1956 March of Dimes is underway.

To be led again this year by Eli Craig, who served as county chairman in 1955, the fund drive of the National Foundation for Infantile Paralysis will feature the use of coin boxes in the business district here, coin cards distributed in the county schools and, as a climax, the Mothers' March on Polio late this month.

Cgairmen of the Mothers' March in the city is Mrs. Herbert Sollars, who took charge of the city drive last year too. Mrs. C. E. Rhoad will head the Mothers' March in the rural area.

Slated for Jan. 26, the final Thursday of the month, the Mothers' March will be a door-to-door campaign for funds. Mothers will call on every home where a porch light is left burning to show the homeowner wants to contribute to the Foundation.

"The chairmen are selecting their workers now," Craig said, "and the Mothers' March should be set up soon."

The Mothers' March is usually the biggest single source of gifts for the county chapter of the Foundation, Craig said. But the coin boxes set up in business places usually bring in their share of contributions.

Coin cards distributed to the children of the county schools help too, he said. Each card has a space for five dimes, and the children fill the card with dimes saved from their allowances or their earnings in after-school jobs.

DESPITE SUCCESS in the long search for a safe, effective vaccine against polio, the National Foundation stresses in its 1956 campaign slogan, "Polio is not licked — yet."

Development of the Salk vaccine and establishment of its safety points the way to the final stamping out of polio, the Foundation says. But until the last person is vaccinated and the last person stricken with polio is helped back to normal activity, the fight must continue.

In Fayette County, several youngsters are still under treatment, receiving aid from the Foundation.

One of them is Sarah Core, 16, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Otis Core of 825 Lincoln Drive. Sarah was stricken with polio last October and suffered muscle weakness over most of her body.

"We've seen improvement in Sarah ever since she started treatment," Mrs. Core said, "especially in the last few weeks."

Confined early in her convalescence to an iron lung, Sarah is now out of the lung entirely, her mother reported. Her "vital capacity," or breathing power, is now 58 percent of normal, as compared with 31 percent just six weeks ago.

"The doctor told her she can play her French horn again," Mrs. Core said.

Sarah is in the newly-dedicated Seller's Wing at Children's Hospital. In the wing are a heated pool,

Civil Defense Change Urged

Metropolitan Zones Get First Attention

WASHINGTON (AP) — Development of new weapons of mass destruction has prompted a decision to consider reorganizing the nation's civil defense program.

Three top federal officials said yesterday the starting point for a possible revamping would be recommendations of a special 13-member committee which surveyed the field.

The officials made public the committee's report, which urged White House action to coordinate more closely the civil defense program and give the Federal Civil Defense Administration stature.

Announcing plans for a reappraisal of the program were Secretary of Defense Wilson, FCDA Chief Val Peterson and Arthur S. Flemming, director of the Office of Defense Mobilization.

They said their agencies would consider first a committee recommendation that federal, state and local authorities cooperate in organizing civil defense measures around "metropolitan zones."

THE COMMITTEE said nuclear weapons and the threat of widespread radioactive fallout have rendered obsolete "the old concept of selfhelp on a city basis."

It urged that "metropolitan target zones" be set up initially in 14 areas having populations of a million or more.

The committee found the public apathetic about civil defense and said the FCDA lacks the stature it "so badly needs." It said, too, that transfer of FCDA headquarters from Washington to Battle Creek, Mich., had greatly hampered the organization's dealings with other federal agencies.

Gen. Otto L. Nelson Jr., a vice president of the New York Life Insurance Co., headed the group.

Villagers Flee From Java Volcano

JAKARTA, Indonesia (AP)—Thousands of villagers living on the slopes of Merapi, central Java's killer volcano, have fled their homes following a thunderous eruption yesterday. Glowing masses of lava are sliding down the eastern slopes.

Merapi towers above one of the most thickly populated areas in the world—about 500 people to the square mile. About 30,000 people were killed when Merapi blew its top in 1930. The last eruption was in 1954 when hundreds of villagers were wiped out.

Hot Issue Revived Here by State Tax Commissioner

Tax on Stored Grain Looms

Fayette County farmers probably will have to pay a personal property tax on grain harvested last season and placed in storage under government loan despite an amendment to the state's revised code that they and the state's legislators thought would exempt it.

This was disclosed today by Harry Allen, the auditor of Fayette County, after he had received a bulletin from State Tax Commissioner Stanley J. Bowers relative to "Taxation of agricultural products under loan from Commodity Credit Corporation—Section 5701.08 of the Revised Code of Ohio."

Auditor Allen questioned the extent of the authority of the state tax commissioner in dictating to local (county) taxing authorities and said he was trying to find some way to get an official opinion from the state's attorney general.

He commented with a wry smile that he thought he has as much right to interpret the law (since the code was amended) as the state tax commissioner and then added that the tax "probably would be included" on the personal property tax bills that are scheduled to go out Feb. 15 in Fayette County.

REP. VIRGIL PERRILL, who represents Fayette County in the state Legislature and was one of those who instituted the amendment to the code, was concerned over the tax commissioner's order to collect the tax and made no attempt to conceal it.

He fought for that amendment in the House last summer and declared that the tax commissioner's order to Ohio's county auditors (the orders went to all counties in the state) was in "complete disregard of the obvious intent of the Legislature."

Elaborating, Rep. Perrill said that the Legislature, in amending the state code, had intended to eliminate that tax on grain stored under government loan.

Rep. Perrill pointed out that in addition to the inequities of the tax, its collection had resulted in utter confusion, not only in Fayette County but all over the state.

Rep. Perrill and Auditor Allen had their heads together over the week end but came up with no concrete solutions for their problems.

They explained that the grain is taxed at the rate of the taxing district in which it is stored — on the farm at 50 percent of its value, in a warehouse in the county or even a warehouse in another city or county at 70 percent of its value.

THE ONLY GRAIN growers who get a break, they said, are those whose grain was stored under loan outside the state in, for example, a terminal warehouse in Baltimore. They won't have to pay the tax, the auditor said, and Rep. Perrill commented that this seemed unfair and was one of the reasons he had helped in the fight in the Legislature to amend the state law.

This latest order of the state tax commissioner to collect the tax on last summer's crop (the storm centers on wheat here) was the second phase of a bitter wrangle over the tax on wheat stored under loan.

Out of a clear sky last summer, the county auditors of Ohio were told to collect the personal property tax on wheat stored under loan for the years of 1952, 1953 and 1954.

The tax had not been collected in Fayette County and the late Ulric Acton, who was auditor at that time, said that he and most other auditors of the state had consider-

Snarl Expected On Highway Bill

Solon Sees Debate On Split Of Money

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. Gore (D-Tenn) said today the 1956 Congress may get snarled up in a dispute over how a big chunk of new highway money should be distributed among the states.

He reported he is confident Congress eventually will enact a highway bill somewhat along the lines of his measure which the Senate approved last May.

However, he said a difference of opinion on how to allocate funds for the interstate system creates added hazards for the legislation.

The interstate system, a 40,000-mile network of key roads, would get the bulk of the new funds under all the major highway aid plans pending in Congress.

The Gore bill called for about $18 billion in federal-state spending for highways over a five-year period. Since new taxes must originate in the House, it did not provide any new financing.

THE HOUSE Public Works Committee then drafted a bill calling for about $50 billion in federal-state outlays over the next 13 years. It included $12½ billion in new federal taxes over that period to help pay for Uncle Sam's share.

However, the full House voted down this measure. Neither the Senate nor House accepted President Eisenhower's plan, which provided a bond issue to finance a big new road program.

Gore said that in talks with House leaders, he had found much sympathy for his proposal for quick House action on a version of his bill, with financing to be left for later tax legislation.

However, he said a stumbling block may be wide House support for a formula for distribution of the new interstate system grants. Taken from the administration's ill-fated bill, this formula is supposed to be based on the needs of each state to complete its portion of the interstate system.

Northern Midwest Mercury Tumbles

CHICAGO (AP) — Fresh blasts of icy air sent temperatures tumbling to sub-zero levels in northern Midwest areas today.

The cold air extended over most of the north central region and was accompanied by snow in some sections. It was below zero in northern Minnesota. More than one inch of snow fell in extreme northern Michigan and upper Michigan during the night.

Snowfall, however, was much heavier in the northern section of the country. The fall in Utican, N. Y., measured 7 inches.

Girl Friend Sought After Airman Shot

GREAT FALLS, Mont. (AP)—Authorities searched today for the 16-year-old girl friend of a young airman found shot in the head in a "lover's lane" west of here. She was feared kidnaped by the killer.

The body of A2c Lloyd Duane Bogle, 18, of Waco, Tex., was found face down beside his car.

Pat Kalitzke was missing. Her mother said the 5-foot-8, 112-pound girl and Bogle left the Kalitzke home Monday evening.

There was no evidence of a struggle. Investigators theorized the airman was killed by someone known to him and of whom he had no fear.

'Miss Universe' Eyes Citizenship

LOS ANGELES (AP)—Miss Hillevi Rombin of Sweden, "Miss Universe of 1956," says she may become a citizen of the United States. The blue-eyed blonde registered yesterday as an alien, as required by law. Her plans, she said, include making application for U. S. citizenship provided her movie career works out.

New Contender Turns Up For First Baby Honors; Arrived 5:45 AM Jan.1

Name: Michael Glenn Barnett. Weight: 7 pounds 8½ ounces. Age: four days. Occupation: latest contender for Mr. Fayette County of 1956.

In other words, he's now first in line for the honor of being the first baby born to Fayette County parents this year.

Little Michael, son of Mr. and Mrs. Glenn Barnett of 1025 Dayton Avenue, was born 5:45 A. M. on Jan. 1 in St. Ann's Hospital in Columbus, just five hours and 45 minutes after the switch from 1955 to 1956.

But under the rules of selecting the representative of all the babies to be born this year to Fayette County parents, there are still four days to go before the county's first baby will be chosen.

If no boy or girl was born before Michael — the decision will be made Jan. 8 — Michael and his parents are due for a welcome of best wishes and gifts from 15 Washington C. H. merchants.

This is the second child for the Barnetts. They have one girl, Theressa Ann, who's 16 months old.

Papa Barnett is originally from Canal-Winchester in Franklin County. He came to Washington C. H. in September to go into business with his brother Bob at the Barnett Sunoco Station here.

Mama Barnett — Margaret — is originally from Columbus.

Michael's parents had been visiting with Bob Barnett on New Year's eve. They left by car from their home early Sunday morning and arrived at St. Ann's Hospital at 3:55 A. M.

The baby's arrival at 5:45 A. M. is a bit more than 29 hours earlier than the first baby known to have been born in Fayette County, a 7 pound eight ounce girl born in Memorial Hospital at 10:57 A. M. Monday. She is the daughter of Specialist 3-C and Mrs. Val Raines of Route 2.

Under the rules, it makes no difference where the baby is born; the important thing is that Fayette County residents are the parents.

Although most babies here are born in hospitals nowadays, there is always the possibility that one could have been born in the home. To allow for that, the decision will not be made and the gifts not presented for a week. That also gives the doctor time to register the little newcomer with the Health Department.

All Orderly Now At Westinghouse

COLUMBUS (AP)—All was reported quiet today on the picket line of the struck Columbus Westinghouse plant where violence followed a mass demonstration of striking workers yesterday.

Deputy sheriffs said the International Union of Electrical Workers carried on normal picketing at the plant's six gates, and that there were no incidents when the first shift began at the plant.

Police arrested scores of strikers yesterday morning as they clashed with some workers who officers said tried to prevent returning workmen from entering the plant. One man died on the picket line of a heart attack, authorities said.

Common Pleas Judge Dana F. Reynolds, who yesterday cited 88 persons for contempt of court involving violation of a court order restraining picketing, threatened to halt all picketing if further trouble developed.

The union asked a court order against interference with peaceful picketing by police.

MEANWHILE, in Philadelphia, top level disputants in the strike meet in hopes of settling a 12-week walkout.

James Finnegan, director of the Federal Mediation and Conciliation Service, yesterday asked two company representatives to meet with him in the Philadelphia office. He gave no reason for shifting the scene of negotiations from Pittsburgh, where Westinghouse headquarters are located.

Also scheduled to be present were James B. Carey, president of the AFL-CIO International Union of Electrical Workers, and Al Hartnett, union secretary.

Both sides gave up in despair in negotiations yesterday after club-swinging disorder broke out in Columbus. It was the most serious of a series of picket line disputes since the strike began.

The union called the death of picket Troy Tadlock "murder on the picket line" and said he was beaten. County authorities said there were no marks of violence on Tadlock's body.

Westinghouse negotiators walked out of their meeting yesterday, according to a company spokesman, after "union officials once again launched into a violent verbal attack in which they used more foul and abusive language."

Both sides issued blistering statements blaming each other for the Columbus violence.

Forty-four thousand IUE members in 30 plants were called out last Oct. 17 to back up a demand for a 15-cent hourly wage increase. Nine days later, the independent United Electrical Workers struck Westinghouse in a similar contract dispute. The UE represents some 10,000 workers in 10 plants.

Before the strikes, members of each union averaged $2.10 an hour. They turned down a company proposal for a five-year contract said by the company to provide a minimum of 23½ cents an hour pay increase over a five-year period.

Girl Wants 'Emancipation' And Support From Her Dad

LOS ANGELES (AP)—Ione Turner, 17, wants to be "emancipated" from her father. She says he's "cruel and abusive."

Miss Turner, who came to live with her father four months ago, asked yesterday in court for $500 a month support.

The father, cafe owner Joseph Norman Turner, 47, denied he mistreated her or asked her to leave his Sierra Madre home.

Both Turner and his daughter said he gave her a $100-a-month allowance. She said a great deal of it went back to her father in fines.

"He fined me for anything he thought I'd done wrong," she testified. "If I didn't finish all the food from my plate it was $1. If I left all the burners going on the gas range it was $5 or $10. If I didn't brush the swimming pool properly it was $10."

Turner said he inaugurated a series of fines to combat her tendency to be wasteful and lazy.

Judge Elmer D. Doyle took the case under submission.

Miss Turner said she had been reared by her mother's parents, Dr. and Mrs. Samuel Harold Wiener of Chicago, after her parents were divorced in 1938.

Wiener died last May and her mother, now Mrs. Clarice Cavanaugh, 43, of Culver City, urged her to visit her father.

Abandoned Baby OK In Hospital

AKRON (AP) — A three-week-old baby girl, who was abandoned in a factory worker's car, remained in good condition in Marymount Hospital in Cleveland last night.

Vernon Parsons, 23, a spot welder in Walton Hills, discovered her yesterday after driving to work from his home here.

Special Talk To Congress Slated Monday

Election Year Session Expected To Get Plan For Expanding Program

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Eisenhower plans to send Congress a special message Monday dealing with the farm problem, assigned a top priority by the administration this election year.

James C. Hagerty, White House press secretary, said at the President's vacation headquarters in Key West, Fla., today the message will go to the lawmakers then "under present plans."

He added that arrangements had not been completed as to timing, but said delivery Monday is most likely.

Hagerty declined to provide any new detail regarding the farm message, but said features of it already have been disclosed by Secretary of Agriculture Benson.

Reports of an administration effort to get the jump on Democrats with a farm plan had circulated here earlier.

With Congress awaiting Eisenhower's State of the Union message tomorrow, Sen. Aiken (R-Vt) said he has been advised work on the administration's farm proposals will be completed this weekend.

Both houses are in recess today after opening ceremonies of the election-year session yesterday.

Aiken, top Republican on the Senate Agriculture Committee, said he has reliable information that unless plans are changed a special farm message may be sent to Capitol Hill early next week, probably Monday.

This would likely precede any action by the Democratic-controlled Agriculture Committee on a House-passed bill to restore high, rigid price supports for major field crops. The bill would upset the administration's flexible support program now in effect.

THE PRESIDENT is expected to recommend retention of flexible supports, plus increased benefits for low-income farmers and establishment of a "soil bank" plan under which acreage would be taken out of production of surplus crops and its fertility built up for the future.

Sen. Sparkman (D-Ala) predicted the Democrats will come up with a farm plan of their own. He said it will be based on restoration of rigid supports "but will go a long way beyond that."

There was no advance word on exactly what Eisenhower will propose in a 7,500-word message but he was expected to make no specific recommendations for tax cutting, an issue over which congressional Democrats have split.

Chairman Bridges (NH) of the Senate Republican Policy Committee said he will fight any tax cuts until the budget is balanced.

The President is expected to propose a program of federal - state cooperation on disaster insurance, with details to be outlined in a special message later.

Eisenhower probably will send a school construction message to the lawmakers Jan. 12 or 13, lay down his budget proposals Jan. 16 and follow with a special health message Jan. 19.

The session had barely started yesterday before influential Democrats served notice there is likely to be some controversy over foreign policy, particularly the administration's proposal to ask for an increase in new money for foreign aid.

House Speaker Rayburn said he was "not happy about our foreign relations as things stand."

Sen. Russell (D-Ga), a critic of foreign economic aid spending, blasted the State Department as being "so sterile of ideas that the only answer they have to the Russians is to ask for more money."

French Muddle Still Muddled

PARIS (AP)—Facing a new National Assembly even more divided than the last, Premier Edgar Faure today pushed a renewed drive for a system to extend the life span of France's cabinets.

Monday's vote badly weakened the moderate center parties which in various coalitions had supported Faure and France's other premiers since 1947.

The big gainers were the Communists, with whom all other factions so far have refused to work, and a new party of small shopkeepers elected on a promise to "throw the rascals out."

Its leader, Pierre Poujade, hinted yesterday he might be ready to support Faure, but it was too early for that move to show any results. Poujade made plain, however, that he wants nothing to do with the premier's rival for leadership of the Assembly's divided moderate majority, Pierre Mendes-France.

Sailor To Enter Plea In Slaying

CLEVELAND (AP)—Sailor William Miller, 24, appears before Municipal Judge Joseph Stern today for a preliminary hearing on a first degree murder charge filed against him in the fatal beating of Miss Carol Martin, 25.

Police said Miller admitted he stripped off the girl's clothing, beat her and left her in a park when she refused his advances. Her body was found Sunday.

5 Vehicles Tied Up After Fire Truck Roars Up Highway

NORTON, Va. (AP)—A fire engine, on its way to a house fire, went rushing down U. S. 58 yesterday. Paul Carroll, approaching in a pickup truck, swerved to get out of the way.

The truck skidded on an icy spot and dropped 15 feet over a bank.

An ambulance came to take Carroll to the hospital. As it pulled out, a passenger car rammed it.

Then another car skidded into a ditch trying to avoid vehicle No. 3.

A fifth car got No. 3.

All five vehicles suffered heavy damage.

The house? Burned down.

3 Of Quad Boys Die In Hospital

LANCASTER, Pa. (AP)—Three of quadruplet boys born prematurely Monday died Tuesday in Lancaster General Hospital. The surviving quad, reported previously as being in "good" condition, was listed in "fair" condition today.

The survivor is Norman Charles Hohenwarter, the first born. The four weighed a total of 14 pounds 7 ounces.

The father, Norman C. Hohenwarter, a $65-a-week postal clerk, said he and his wife Regina, 25, had been expecting twins in about a month. The Hohenwarters have two other sons, 6 and 3.

Girl Friend Sought After Airman Shot

GREAT FALLS, Mont. (AP)—Authorities searched today for the 16-year-old girl friend of a young airman found shot in the head in a "lover's lane" west of here. She was feared kidnaped by the killer.

The body of A2c Lloyd Duane Bogle, 18, of Waco, Tex., was found face down beside his car.

Pat Kalitzke was missing. Her mother said the 5-foot-8, 112-pound girl and Bogle left the Kalitzke home Monday evening.

There was no evidence of a struggle. Investigators theorized the airman was killed by someone known to him and of whom he had no fear.

Her plans, she said, include making application for U. S. citizenship provided her movie career works out.

Tax on Stored Grain Looms

Fayette County farmers probably will have to pay a personal property tax on grain harvested last season and placed in storage under government loan despite an amendment to the state's revised code that they and the state's legislators thought would exempt it.

This was disclosed today by Harry Allen, the auditor of Fayette County, after he had received a bulletin from State Tax Commissioner Stanley J. Bowers relative to "Taxation of agricultural products under loan from Commodity Credit Corporation—Section 5701.08 of the Revised Code of Ohio."

Auditor Allen questioned the extent of the authority of the state tax commissioner in dictating to local (county) taxing authorities and said he was trying to find some way to get an official opinion from the state's attorney general.

He commented with a wry smile that he thought he has as much right to interpret the law (since the code was amended) as the state tax commissioner and then added that the tax "probably would be included" on the personal property tax bills that are scheduled to go out Feb. 15 in Fayette County.

REP. VIRGIL PERRILL, who represents Fayette County in the state Legislature and was one of those who instituted the amendment to the code, was concerned over the tax commissioner's order to collect the tax and made no attempt to conceal it.

He fought for that amendment in the House last summer and declared that the tax commissioner's order to Ohio's county auditors (the orders went to all counties in the state) was in "complete disregard of the obvious intent of the Legislature."

Elaborating, Rep. Perrill said that the Legislature, in amending the state code, had intended to eliminate that tax on grain stored under government loan.

Rep. Perrill pointed out that in addition to the inequities of the tax, its collection had resulted in utter confusion, not only in Fayette County but all over the state.

Rep. Perrill and Auditor Allen had their heads together over the week end but came up with no concrete solutions for their problems.

They explained that the grain is taxed at the rate of the taxing district in which it is stored — on the farm at 50 percent of its value, in a warehouse in the county or even a warehouse in another city or county at 70 percent of its value.

THE ONLY GRAIN growers who get a break, they said, are those whose grain was stored under loan outside the state in, for example, a terminal warehouse in Baltimore. They won't have to pay the tax, the auditor said, and Rep. Perrill commented that this seemed unfair and was one of the reasons he had helped in the fight in the Legislature to amend the state law.

This latest order of the state tax commissioner to collect the tax on last summer's crop (the storm centers on wheat here) was the second phase of a bitter wrangle over the tax on wheat stored under loan.

Out of a clear sky last summer, the county auditors of Ohio were told to collect the personal property tax on wheat stored under loan for the years of 1952, 1953 and 1954.

The tax had not been collected in Fayette County and the late Ulric Acton, who was auditor at that time, said that he and most other auditors of the state had consider-

Snarl Expected On Highway Bill

Solon Sees Debate On Split Of Money

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. Gore (D-Tenn) said today the 1956 Congress may get snarled up in a dispute over how a big chunk of new highway money should be distributed among the states.

He reported he is confident Congress eventually will enact a highway bill somewhat along the lines of his measure which the Senate approved last May.

However, he said a difference of opinion on how to allocate funds for the interstate system creates added hazards for the legislation.

The interstate system, a 40,000-mile network of key roads, would get the bulk of the new funds under all the major highway aid plans pending in Congress.

The Gore bill called for about $18 billion in federal-state spending for highways over a five-year period. Since new taxes must originate in the House, it did not provide any new financing.

THE HOUSE Public Works Committee then drafted a bill calling for about $50 billion in federal-state outlays over the next 13 years. It included $12½ billion in new federal taxes over that period to help pay for Uncle Sam's share.

However, the full House voted down this measure. Neither the Senate nor House accepted President Eisenhower's plan, which provided a bond issue to finance a big new road program.

Gore said that in talks with House leaders, he had found much sympathy for his proposal for quick House action on a version of his bill, with financing to be left for later tax legislation.

However, he said a stumbling block may be wide House support for a formula for distribution of the new interstate system grants. Taken from the administration's ill-fated bill, this formula is supposed to be based on the needs of each state to complete its portion of the interstate system.

Northern Midwest Mercury Tumbles

CHICAGO (AP) — Fresh blasts of icy air sent temperatures tumbling to sub-zero levels in northern Midwest areas today.

The cold air extended over most of the north central region and was accompanied by snow in some sections. It was below zero in northern Minnesota. More than one inch of snow fell in extreme northern Michigan and upper Michigan during the night.

Snowfall, however, was much heavier in the northeast section of the country. The fall in Utican, N. Y., measured 7 inches.

New Contender Turns Up For First Baby Honors; Arrived 5:45 AM Jan.1

Name: Michael Glenn Barnett. Weight: 7 pounds 8½ ounces. Age: four days. Occupation: latest contender for Mr. Fayette County of 1956.

In other words, he's now first in line for the honor of being the first baby born to Fayette County parents this year.

Little Michael, son of Mr. and Mrs. Glenn Barnett of 1025 Dayton Avenue, was born 5:45 A. M. on Jan. 1 in St. Ann's Hospital in Columbus, just five hours and 45 minutes after the switch from 1955 to 1956.

But under the rules of selecting the representative of all the babies to be born this year to Fayette County parents, there are still four days to go before the county's first baby will be chosen.

If no boy or girl was born before Michael — the decision will be made Jan. 8 — Michael and his parents are due for a welcome of best wishes and gifts from 15 Washington C. H. merchants.

This is the second child for the Barnetts. They have one girl, Theresa Ann, who's 16 months old.

Papa Barnett is originally from Canal-Winchester in Franklin County. He came to Washington C. H. in September to go into business with his brother Bob at the Barnett Sunoco Station here.

Mama Barnett — Margaret — is originally from Columbus.

Michael's parents had been visiting with Bob Barnett on New Year's eve. They left by car from their home early Sunday morning and arrived at St. Ann's Hospital at 3:55 A. M.

The baby's arrival at 5:45 A. M. is a bit more than 29 hours earlier than the first baby known to have been born in Fayette County, a 7 pound eight ounce girl born in Memorial Hospital at 10:57 A. M. Monday. She is the daughter of Specialist 3-C and Mrs. Val Raines of Route 2.

Under the rules, it makes no difference where the baby is born; the important thing is that Fayette County residents are the parents.

Although most babies here are born in hospitals nowadays, there is always the possibility that one could have been born in the home. To allow for that, the decision will not be made and the gifts not presented for a week. That also gives the doctor time to register the little newcomer with the Health Department.

All Orderly Now At Westinghouse

COLUMBUS (AP)—All was reported quiet today on the picket line of the struck Columbus Westinghouse plant where violence followed a mass demonstration of striking workers yesterday.

Deputy sheriffs said the International Union of Electrical Workers carried on normal picketing at the plant's six gates, and that there were no incidents when the first shift began at the plant.

Police arrested scores of strikers yesterday morning as they clashed with some workers who officers said tried to prevent returning workmen from entering the plant. One man died on the picket line of a heart attack, authorities said.

Common Pleas Judge Dana F. Reynolds, who yesterday cited 88 persons for contempt of court involving violation of a court order restraining picketing, threatened to halt all picketing if further trouble developed.

The union asked a court order against interference with peaceful picketing by police.

MEANWHILE, in Philadelphia, top level disputants in the strike meet in hopes of settling a 12-week walkout.

James Finnegan, director of the Federal Mediation and Conciliation Service, yesterday asked two company representatives to meet with him in the Philadelphia office. He gave no reason for shifting the scene of negotiations from Pittsburgh, where Westinghouse headquarters are located.

Also scheduled to be present were James B. Carey, president of the AFL-CIO International Union of Electrical Workers, and Al Hartnett, union secretary.

Both sides gave up in despair in negotiations yesterday after club-swinging disorder broke out in Columbus. It was the most serious of a series of picket line disputes since the strike began.

The union called the death of picket Troy Tadlock "murder on the picket line" and said he was beaten. County authorities said there were no marks of violence on Tadlock's body.

Westinghouse negotiators walked out of their meeting yesterday, according to a company spokesman, after "union officials once again launched into a violent verbal attack in which they used more foul and abusive language."

Both sides issued blistering statements blaming each other for the Columbus violence.

Forty-four thousand IUE members in 30 plants were called out last Oct. 17 to back up a demand for a 15-cent hourly wage increase. Nine days later, the independent United Electrical Workers struck Westinghouse in a similar contract dispute. The UE represents some 10,000 workers in 10 plants.

Before the strikes, members of each union averaged $2.10 an hour. They turned down a company proposal for a five-year contract said by the company to provide a minimum of 23½ cents an hour pay increase over a five-year period.

Girl Wants 'Emancipation' And Support From Her Dad

LOS ANGELES (AP)—Ione Turner, 17, wants to be "emancipated" from her father. She says he's "cruel and abusive."

Miss Turner, who came to live with her father four months ago, asked yesterday in court for $500 a month support.

The father, cafe owner Joseph Norman Turner, 47, denied he mistreated her or asked her to leave his Sierra Madre home.

Both Turner and his daughter said he gave her a $100-a-month allowance. She said a great deal of it went back to her father in fines.

"He fined me for anything he thought I'd done wrong," she testified. "If I didn't finish all the food from my plate it was $1. If I left all the burners going on the gas range it was $5 or $10. If I didn't brush the swimming pool properly it was $10."

Turner said he inaugurated a series of fines to combat her tendency to be wasteful and lazy.

Judge Elmer D. Doyle took the case under submission.

Miss Turner said she had been reared by her mother's parents, Dr. and Mrs. Samuel Harold Wiener of Chicago, after her parents were divorced in 1938.

Wiener died last May and her mother, now Mrs. Clarice Cavanaugh, 43, of Culver City, urged her to visit her father.

Special Talk To Congress Slated Monday

Election Year Session Expected To Get Plan For Expanding Program

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Eisenhower plans to send Congress a special message Monday dealing with the farm problem, assigned a top priority by the administration this election year.

James C. Hagerty, White House press secretary, said at the President's vacation headquarters in Key West, Fla., today the message will go to the lawmakers then "under present plans."

He added that arrangements had not been completed as to timing, but said delivery Monday is most likely.

Hagerty declined to provide any new detail regarding the farm message, but said features of it already have been disclosed by Secretary of Agriculture Benson.

Reports of an administration effort to get the jump on Democrats with a farm plan had circulated here earlier.

With Congress awaiting Eisenhower's State of the Union message tomorrow, Sen. Aiken (R-Vt) said he has been advised work on the administration's farm proposals will be completed this weekend.

Both houses are in recess today after opening ceremonies of the election-year session yesterday.

Aiken, top Republican on the Senate Agriculture Committee, said he has reliable information that unless plans are changed a special farm message may be sent to Capitol Hill early next week, probably Monday.

This would likely precede any action by the Democratic-controlled Agriculture Committee on a House-passed bill to restore high, rigid price supports for major field crops. The bill would upset the administration's flexible support program now in effect.

THE PRESIDENT is expected to recommend retention of flexible supports, plus increased benefits for low-income farmers and establishment of a "soil bank" plan under which acreage would be taken out of production of surplus crops and its fertility built up for the future.

Sen. Sparkman (D-Ala) predicted the Democrats will come up with a farm plan of their own. He said it will be based on restoration of rigid supports "but will go a long way beyond that."

There was no advance word on exactly what Eisenhower will propose in a 7,500-word message but he was expected to make no specific recommendations for tax cutting, an issue over which congressional Democrats have split.

Chairman Bridges (NH) of the Senate Republican Policy Committee said he will fight any tax cuts until the budget is balanced.

The President is expected to propose a program of federal - state cooperation on disaster insurance, with details to be outlined in a special message later.

Eisenhower probably will send a school construction message to the lawmakers Jan. 12 or 13, lay down his budget proposals Jan. 16 and follow with a special health message Jan. 19.

The session had barely started yesterday before influential Democrats served notice there is likely to be some controversy over foreign policy, particularly the administration's proposal to ask for an increase in new money for foreign aid.

House Speaker Rayburn said he was "not happy about our foreign relations as things stand."

Sen. Russell (D-Ga), a critic of foreign economic aid spending, blasted the State Department as being "so sterile of ideas that the only answer they have to the Russians is to ask for more money."

French Muddle Still Muddled

PARIS (AP)—Facing a new National Assembly even more divided than the last, Premier Edgar Faure today pushed a renewed drive for a system to extend the life span of France's cabinets.

Monday's vote badly weakened the moderate center parties which in various coalitions had supported Faure and France's other premiers since 1947.

The big gainers were the Communists, with whom all other factions so far have refused to work, and a new party of small shopkeepers elected on a promise to "throw the rascals out."

Its leader, Pierre Poujade, hinted yesterday he might be ready to support Faure, but it was too early for that move to show any results. Poujade made plain, however, that he wants nothing to do with the premier's rival for leadership of the Assembly's divided moderate majority, Pierre Mendes-France.

Sailor To Enter Plea In Slaying

CLEVELAND (AP)—Sailor William Miller, 24, appears before Municipal Judge Joseph Stern today for a preliminary hearing on a first degree murder charge filed against him in the fatal beating of Miss Carol Martin, 25.

Police said Miller admitted he stripped off the girl's clothing, beat her and left her in a park when she refused his advances. Her body was found Sunday.

5 Vehicles Tied Up After Fire Truck Roars Up Highway

NORTON, Va. (AP)—A fire engine, on its way to a house fire, went rushing down U. S. 58 yesterday. Paul Carroll, approaching in a pickup truck, swerved to get out of the way.

The truck skidded on an icy spot and dropped 15 feet over a bank.

An ambulance came to take Carroll to the hospital. As it pulled out, a passenger car rammed it.

Then another car skidded into a ditch trying to avoid vehicle No. 3.

A fifth car got No. 3.

All five vehicles suffered heavy damage.

The house? Burned down.

Abandoned Baby OK In Hospital

AKRON (AP) — A three-week-old baby girl, who was abandoned in a factory worker's car, remained in good condition in Marymount Hospital in Cleveland last night.

Vernon Parsons, 23, a spot welder in Walton Hills, discovered her yesterday after driving to work from his home here.

3 Of Quad Boys Die In Hospital

LANCASTER, Pa. (AP)—Three of quadruplet boys born prematurely Monday died Tuesday in Lancaster General Hospital. The surviving quad, reported previously as being in "good" condition, was listed in "fair" condition today.

The survivor is Norman Charles Hohenwarter, the first born. The four weighed a total of 14 pounds 7 ounces.

The father, Norman C. Hohenwarter, a $65-a-week postal clerk, said he and his wife Regina, 25, had been expecting twins in about a month. The Hohenwarters have two other sons, 6 and 3.

FFA Banquet Plans Started

WHS Chapter Enters Pair Of Contests

Planning for the annual parent and son banquet, highlight of the spring program for the Future Farmers of America, got underway during Tuesday evening's meeting of the Washington C. H. chapter of the FFA.

Other features of the meeting included the decision to enter two FFA contests, one statewide and the other for the district.

The state contest is in farm safety. Each competing chapter will be rated on a point system, with 25 points allowed for each farm unit a chapter inspects, 10 points for each hazard located, 20 points for each hazard eliminated and 20 points for each newspaper article published on chapter activities.

Top chapter on points will win a $100 prize at the state FFA convention in June.

TWO BOYS from the WHS Chapter will enter the FFA district public speaking contest, slated for Feb. 8. One will give a ten-minute prepared talk, while the other will enter a contest for extemporaneous speakers.

Five committees for the parents and sons banquet, to be held in March, were set up during the meeting Tuesday.

Paul Hughes heads the menu committee, with Gary Stoddard and Larry Wright as other members. Alfred Hagler, Larry Carman and Charles Morgan are in charge of decorations.

John Langley heads the planning committee and Kenneth Pettit and Roger Howard are also members. The invitation committee members are Gary Ivers, chairman, and Joe Oberschlake and Dick Klever.

Special awards to be made at the banquet will be planned by Mike Cunningham, Bennie See and Jack Matthews. An award will go to the boy with the best record in beef cattle, dairy cattle, hogs, sheep, corn, wheat, oats, soybeans, alfalfa and farm shop.

Sarah can now walk in the heated pool, or with the help of a therapist, her mother reported.

Sarah was home for both Christmas and New Year's holidays, Mrs. Core said. "We could see the improvement," she added.

The National Foundation, in addition to helping train medical workers at the hospital and pushing research for new methods of treatment, also furnishes the hospital a fee for each day Sarah and other polio patients spend in the special wing. It also pays for such other special services as medicines laboratory tests, and other extra costs.

"We think the Foundation is 100 percent," Mrs. Core said.

Stored Wheat Tax

Backing up that position, he said that the farmers had paid federal income tax on the money they received from their wheat stored under loan.

Shortly after that order went out, an agent of the state Tax Department came here and spent weeks checking on wheat loans for those three years. It is understood that he has a long list of farmers he claims now owe the personal property tax on their wheat stored under loan in 1952, 1953 and 1954.

Allen has said that he will send out the bills for this tax if the state Tax Department send them to him for collection, but he inferred that he would not go out himself and dig them up.

Rep. Perrill quoted a portion of the amendment to the state code that was designed to exempt grain stored under loan from taxation:

"Personal property is 'use' within the meaning of 'used in business' when employed or utilized in connection with ordinary or special operations, when acquired or held as means or instruments for carrying on the business, when kept and maintained as a part of a plant capable of operation, whether actually in operation or not, or when stored or kept on hand as material, parts, products or merchandise.

"Agricultural products in storage in a grain elevator, warehouse or a place of storage which products are subject to the control of the United States government and are to be shipped on order of the United States government, and merchandise or agricultural products shipped from outside of the state and held in this state in a warehouse or place of storage for storage only and for shipment outside of this state are not 'used' in business in this state."

The two principal paragraphs in the tax commissioner's order and interpretation of the amended code said:

"Agricultural products stored on the land where produced or in a warehouse on which a Commodity Credit Corporation loan has been issued, and agricultural products under a "Purchase Agreement Plan" with the Commodity Credit Corporation, are taxable to the owner thereof in the taxing district in Ohio where stored. The location where such agricultural products are stored can be determined by the owner from either the warehouse receipt or note.

"These three types of plans are commonly referred to as "Farm Stored Loans", "Warehouse Stored Loans", and "Purchase Agreement Plans". In each instance the government exerts no control over the agricultural products in that the farmer or the warehouseman has custody of such products. At no time until the United States Government takes custody of the agricultural products after the farmer has decided to release his products by not redeeming his note, is any control in the United States Government, and further, the Government has no authority to ship these products until the time when the farmer decided not to redeem the note, which event occurs after tax listing date."

FFA Banquet Plans Started

WHS Chapter Enters Pair Of Contests

Planning for the annual parent and son banquet, highlight of the spring program for the Future Farmers of America, got underway during Tuesday evening's meeting of the Washington C. H. chapter of the FFA.

Other features of the meeting included the decision to enter two FFA contests, one statewide and the other for the district.

The state contest is in farm safety. Each competing chapter will be rated on a point system, with 25 points allowed for each farm unit a chapter inspects, 10 points for each hazard located, 20 points for each hazard eliminated and 20 points for each newspaper article published on chapter activities.

Top chapter on points will win a $100 prize at the state FFA convention in June.

TWO BOYS from the WHS Chapter will enter the FFA district public speaking contest, slated for Feb. 8. One will give a ten-minute prepared talk, while the other will enter a contest for extemporaneous speakers.

Five committees for the parents and sons banquet, to be held in March, were set up during the meeting Tuesday.

Paul Hughes heads the menu committee, with Gary Stoddard and Larry Wright as other members. Alfred Hagler, Larry Carman and Charles Morgan are in charge of decorations.

John Langley heads the planning committee and Kenneth Pettit and Roger Howard are also members. The invitation committee members are Gary Ivers, chairman, and Joe Oberschlake and Dick Klever.

Special awards to be made at the banquet will be planned by Mike Cunningham, Bennie See and Jack Matthews. An award will go to the boy with the best record in beef cattle, dairy cattle, hogs, sheep, corn, wheat, oats, soybeans, alfalfa and farm shop.

Mrs. Charles Bartleson Succumbs In Arizona

Mrs. Charles James Barthleson, who had many friends here among the older generations, died Dec. 22 at her home in Tucson, Ariz., following a brief illness. Word of her death has just been received by relatives here, among them Charles A. Fabb, a cousin.

Cremation followed the funeral services at Tucson. The ashes were interred in the Tucson Cemetery, near those of her husband, John Bartleson, according to word from Tucson.

an electric tilt board, a gymnasium and many other pieces of equipment designed to strengthen weakened muscles.

Sarah can now walk in the heated pool, or with the help of a therapist, her mother reported.

Sarah was home for both Christmas and New Year's holidays, Mrs. Core said. "We could see the improvement," she added.

The National Foundation, in addition to helping train medical workers at the hospital and pushing research for new methods of treatment, also furnishes the hospital a fee for each day Sarah and other polio patients spend in the special wing. It also pays for such other special services as medicines laboratory tests, and other extra costs.

"We think the Foundation is 100 percent," Mrs. Core said.

Stored Wheat Tax

Backing up that position, he said that the farmers had paid federal income tax on the money they received from their wheat stored under loan.

Shortly after that order went out, an agent of the state Tax Department came here and spent weeks checking on wheat loans for those three years. It is understood that he has a long list of farmers he claims now owe the personal property tax on their wheat stored under loan in 1952, 1953 and 1954.

Allen has said that he will send out the bills for this tax if the state Tax Department send them to him for collection, but he inferred that he would not go out himself and dig them up.

Rep. Perrill quoted a portion of the amendment to the state code that was designed to exempt grain stored under loan from taxation:

"Personal property is 'use' within the meaning of 'used in business' when employed or utilized in connection with ordinary or special operations, when acquired or held as means or instruments for carrying on the business, when kept and maintained as a part of a plant capable of operation, whether actually in operation or not, or when stored or kept on hand as material, parts, products or merchandise.

"Agricultural products in storage in a grain elevator, warehouse or a place of storage which products are subject to the control of the United States government and are to be shipped on order of the United States government, and merchandise or agricultural products shipped from outside of the state and held in this state in a warehouse or place of storage for storage only and for shipment outside of this state are not 'used' in business in this state."

The two principal paragraphs in the tax commissioner's order and interpretation of the amended code said:

"Agricultural products stored on the land where produced or in a warehouse on which a Commodity Credit Corporation loan has been issued, and agricultural products under a "Purchase Agreement Plan" with the Commodity Credit Corporation, are taxable to the owner thereof in the taxing district in Ohio where stored. The location where such agricultural products are stored can be determined by the owner from either the warehouse receipt or note.

"These three types of plans are commonly referred to as "Farm Stored Loans", "Warehouse Stored Loans", and "Purchase Agreement Plans". In each instance the government exerts no control over the agricultural products in that the farmer or the warehouseman has custody of such products. At no time until the United States Government takes custody of the agricultural products after the farmer has decided to release his products by not redeeming his note, is any control in the United States Government, and further, the Government has no authority to ship these products until the time when the farmer decided not to redeem the note, which event occurs after tax listing date."

"Mary Haworth's Mail"

DEAR MARY HAWORTH: I have a friend whom I have known for over 30 years. In all this time I have admired her for one thing or another—for her home, her dress; but, more than anything, for her beautifully mannered children and her graciousness as a hostess. She could entertain two or 20 people with equal poise.

Now her children are grown and away, and she has changed completely. She repeats over and over again: "Nothing is worth doing since the children aren't here." She says missing them is like a physical pain. Yet she has never been a possessive mother. They chose their own schools, professions and associates.

The children all have enviable positions and Nina is very proud of them; but unfortunately their work takes them away from this city and they've settled elsewhere.

She has spells of depression, with uncontrollable sobs and crying. If anything goes wrong with plans she makes, she goes completely to pieces. And just the other day she had a few women in her home, who hadn't met each other before; and it was quite a long time before she remembered to introduce them.

Such absent-minded and distrait actions are so foreign to her that they worry me; and I am appealing to you to tell me how I may help her, without being too obvious.

J. B.

DEAR J. B.: In effect your friend is proclaiming "I've had it." She seems to feel there is no more social development ahead for her. As if she never had any purpose, potential or function in adult life, other than to first produce and thereafter nurture children through their dependent phase.

She seems to lack "viability"—which is the essence of livingness. It is the innate capacity for growing; or adapting to changing environment. Perhaps her existence has been too sheltered, for too long—so that she has become ossified in one mode of adaptation, as it were. And consequently tends to crumble and "go to pieces" as her design-for-living is perforce shaken up more recently.

Or to use another figure of speech, she is like a vine that has lost its erstwhile supporting structure. In years past, she festooned her actions and programs about the needs of her children. Now that they no longer need her—at least not urgently, in crucial ways—she is "sunk." Well, this is a misery that most women of middle age experience in some measure; and it depends upon the individual as t how she makes out.

You might say that Nina's life was running full tilt, of its own momentum for a good many years, until the children took off. Since then, her routine may be compared to a clock that has stopped; and that needs re-winding and possibly some inward readjustments and repairs, to get it going stoutly again.

Future Awaits Her

Nina must discover new valid uses for her time, new opportunities for serving society, now that her children are on their own. And heaven knows there is plenty of work to be done, on a community scale, for neglected children the world over. Also for elderly invalids, so-called "incurables" and other shut-ins—to bring the sunshine of faithful helpful interest to their situation.

Nina is going to seed by the introspective route — looking backward in time and mourning the death of the past, as it were, instead of studying her new hand-of-cards with alert resourceful intelligence. As of now, her future may be likened to a procession of empty rooms, awaiting her talent to furnish them.

If she turns her back on effort, saying it isn't worthwhile any more, her future years will be empty, sure. But if she faces the truth that "life is what you make it," and mothers the needy since her children are gone, she will fill up with contentment again.

Boy 11, Saves 4 From Farm Pond

ST. JOSEPH, Mo. (AP)—When four fellow skaters plunged through the ice on a farm pond yesterday, 11-year-old Sonny Golden knew what to do.

He obtained a rope and ladder from some men nearby and while adults watched from the sidelines, ran back onto the ice and helped the skaters out one by one.

Highway patrolmen said only someone as light as 80-pound Sonny could have ventured onto the thin ice.

Pastor Attacks Church Liberals

Levels Charges In Rotary Talk Here

"Everything that threatens America has its roots in unbelief."

That was the central point around which Rev. William E. Ashbrook, pastor of the Calvary Bible Church in Columbus, built his talk at the weekly Rotary Club luncheon in the Country Club Tuesday.

Titled "Liberalism in the Churches," Rev. Ashbrook's talk defined a liberal as "a member of the intelligentsia who has both feet firmly planted in midair. By way of contrast, he continued, "a fundamentalist is one who has his feet firmly planted on the Rock. For Christians, that Rock is Jesus Christ."

The "tragedy of our day," Rev. Ashbrook maintained, is the failure of Christians to take the Bible as the literal Word of God.

Drawing a parallel between liberalism in the interpretation of the Bible, liberalism in politics and Communism, he went on to say, "It's not difficut to convince folks that there's Communism in politics. It's not difficut to convince folks there's Communism in labor unions. But when it comes to the churches—no."

"I'm not attacking the church," he declared and added, "I'm a minister of the Gospel myself." But he went on to say that he was attacking the liberals whom he called "false apostles within the churches."

REV. ASHBROOK gave a list of Protestant churchmen and divinity school leaders whom he cited as "unbelievers" in such "basic Christian tenets" as the Virgin Birth and the bodily Resurrection of Christ.

He appended to the list others whom he charged with such acts as working with "the Political Action Committee of the CIO for the election nof Roosevelt."

Also coming in for attack were instructors and religious leaders in such state - supported universities as Ohio State University. Citing the Religion and Life Conference held annually at OSU, he commented, "You'd be surprised at the array of characters that are brought to speak on those occasions."

He also attacked the National Council of Churches and the United Nations.

"To my mind, the most utterly subversive organization in America today is the United Nations' organization," he said, summing up his discussion of the UN.

Introducing Rev. Ashbrook, Ralph Penn said the minister had attended Westminster (Pa.) College, the Pittsburgh Theological Seminary and Edinburgh University in Scotland.

Guests at the Rotary luncheon included John Jordan, Jr., and Bob Myers of Springfield. Student guests were Dick Dawson and Robert Slusser.

Dr. Walter Felson of Greenfield was the only visiting Rotarian.

The number of amateur photographers had doubled since the end of World War II.

Shakespeare's Secret Hinted In Old Tomb

LONDON (AP) — The Church of England has given permission to open a tomb in a Kent County church in an effort to determine if Christopher Marlowe wrote the plays attributed to William Shakespeare, "the bard of Avon."

After a hearing in Chiselhurst's mellow old St. Nicholas Church, Chancellor Percy Lamb of the diocese of Rochester ruled Maj. John Marsham-Townsend, lord of the manor of Scadbury, could open the 16th century tomb believed to contain the body of Marlowe's patron, Thomas Walsingham.

Partisans of Marlowe hope to find inside papers that will bear out this theory:

Marlowe, a rising dramatist and poet, fell under suspicion of treason and Queen Elizabeth's privy council ordered his arrest. To save his protege, Walsingham arranged a tavern stabbing and had a farmer's body identified as Marlowe's.

Then he secluded the poet at one of his estates, where Marlowe turned out "Hamlet," "King Lear" and the rest of the dramas. To get the plays produced, Walsingham hired "a dull poacher" recently come to London, William Shakespeare of Avon, to give them his name.

The pro-Marlowe scholars figure Walsingham would not have died without leaving some evidence of his great secret. They reckon his tomb was the logical hiding place.

Ohio Sailor Tells Of Extortion Try

WARREN (AP)—Deputies are investigating a sailor's story that four men kidnaped him and made him swallow two bottles of aspirin tablets in an extortion attempt.

The sailor was Ray Clont of nearby Campbell, home on leave from the Navy. He said four men forced him into their car, made him eat the aspirin and drove him to Steubenville before returning to Warren and releasing him. They asked him to give him $1,000 on threat of death, he said.

Too Many Teen-Agers With Warped Outlook

A local citizen called this newspaper's attention to a clipping, a few days ago, which seemed to us to put a rather startling situation before the people in one large city recently where a poll was conducted among high school juniors.

The results were not entirely related to the desired purpose of the poll, in many cases, but appeared to be all the more worthy of attention for that very reason.

A prominent and reportedly highly qualified member of the staff of the Oklahoma City school system asked students who were just one year away from graduation, this question: "Why do you think more students do not take science or math in their course of studies?"

Apparently many of the students indicated a very mixed-up sense of values which had developed among many of the teenagers. Many treated the question very lightly.

Answers to this logical and simple question ranged from "who wants to be called a square or a brain?" to "a scientist is an evil genius on TV thinking up ways to torture people." Another classic gem was "Duke Snider (Brooklyn baseball player) is one of the 10 best dressed men. If he was a scientist, would he be?"

The rather calm observation from the teacher on these asinine replies was that there seemed to be a need for improved vocational counseling and he suggested that perhaps a better job of teaching could be done.

It's going to take a lot more than better guidance to correct such warped outlooks on life as these. Actually, such opinions are only another reflection of the easy mode of living and complete disinterest of things worthwhile so prevalent throughout the nation in this age of "progressive education."

The problem today is not merely getting more students interested in science fields, although there is a tremendous shortage of qualified personnel in scientific vocations. Of more immediate importance is the problem of getting today's students back on a more rational plane before unorthodoxism becomes the rule rather than the exception.

It isn't a question of conformists versus non-conformists. It's gone much farther than that when a high school junior will not consider a certain vocation because people might think of him as a "square" or a "brain."

There is no need for any emotion but pride to be attached to any intelligent field of endeavor and those who follow these fields should gain encouragement from disparagements voiced by the fickle, the immature or the hopelessly bewildered.

Good Time For World's End

By Hal Boyle

NEW YORK (AP)—If the world should end this very day, it couldn't find America better prepared.

If the universe suddenly exploded, practically every one in the land would be blown straight up into heaven. The rush of rarified souls would wear out the turnstiles at St. Peter's pearly gates.

For America today is an earthly paradise inhabited not by ordinary people but by 160-odd million pure-purposed angels.

An aura of unaccustomed saintliness rises over the nation like clean fog above a dismal swamp. Look around you. Isn't everybody wearing a shiny new halo?

There is a reason, of course. It is the season of the New Year's resolution, when all look within themselves and take an interior vow to lead a finer, nobler life.

The bad resolve to be good, the good resolve to be better. The old feckless, sinful past seems unutterably repugnant. One looks back at the mire-speckled creature he was only a week ago and mumbles whole-heartedly, "How could I ever have been like that? Never again!"

Sweetness and light brighten the very air. Everyone has decided to be more trustworthy, loyal, helpful, thrifty, courteous, kind, brave, clean and reverent —plus a lot of other things.

Nowhere is a frown in sight. Wherever you glance, all you see are rows of teeth determinedly fixed in a smile, smile, smile. There is a determined fix to the haloes, too, as if this time the wearers really meant to keep them clamped on their noggins forever.

The wife has vowed to spend less time playing bridge and spend more time playing with her children.

The husband has vowed to spend more time at home, too, and also take his wife out oftener.

The steongrapher has vowed to quit primping at her office desk.

The bus driver has vowed that, even if the paying customers don't move to the back of the bus in 1956, he won't let it ruin his temper.

Yes, whoever has a bad habit of any kind, has silently vowed to rid himself of it, whether it's beating his wife in private or using a toothpick in public. An atmosphere of personal sanctity wraps the country from coast to coast.

Ah, perhaps it would be better if the world did end this very day, and wafted all us suddenly pompous puritans to the heaven we now aspire to create on earth. For New Year's resolutions have a traditional brief life.

Certainly if a cataclysm destroyed the universe even as late as next week, half of us, our vows already forsaken, would find ourselves blown not toward heaven but in exactly the opposite direction.

Who Has Brains In World Game

By George Sokolsky

William Randolph Hearst, Jr., poses a question that requires analysis. He said:

"There seems to be developing a belief that everything Russia does on the diplomatic front is the product of brilliantly calculated statesmanship while Uncle Sam's corresponding moves are muddled and uninspired."

Neither the Russians nor the Americans have a monoply of intelligence. Man for man, John Foster Dulles is probably as keen an operator as Molotov or Gromyko. Nevertheless, we have witnessed an expansion of the Soviet Universal State since 1938 which could not have occurred unless Russia had certain advantages over the United States and the western world.

As a basis for this discussion, let us accept Mr. Hearst's conclusion that Russians are not geniuses and Americans are not dopes. Despite this conclusion, the Russians have made empirical advances which we cannot ignore. What, then, are their advantages?

1. Impudence. Not bound by moral considerations, unhampered by traditions of natural law and international law, doing as they please without regard to the restraints and inhibitions which civilization has imposed upon mankind, the Russians do as they please, at any cost to others. If that gives them an advantage, it is the advantage of the oppressor;

2. No allies. The Russians have no allies, only satellites. They do not need to call a conference of foreign ministers of their allies to determine a policy.

Our policies are always based on a compromise among all the powers that compose NATO and SEATO and the Bagdad powers and the Balkan Alliance or what remains of it. In a word, having joined in various alliances, we cannot ignore what our allies desire. Therefore, the United States is not altogether a free agent.

But Soviet Russia is a free agent. It, however, is not as free at the end of 1955 as it was in, say, 1948. In the first place, it now has to consider Red China, which rejects the role of a satellite; and it has to consider India which plays an increasing role in the Soviet Universal State as a friendly neutral. It ispossible that sooner or later, Soviet Russia may lose the advantage of having no allies, but only satellites, but up to now, this has been an enormous advantage.

3. The propaganda machine. Soviet Russia maintains a propaganda machine in every country of the world, namely, the communist party. It is impossible for the United States or any western country to maintain a similar agency for propaganda, infiltration and destruction. It would be regarded as an interference in the internal affairs of another country if the United States were to employ such means to strengthen its position. Many Americans would resent it and it is doubtful if Congress would permit expenditures for such a purpose. But there is not a country on earth in which the communist party, directly controlled by Russia, does not flourish openly or underground.

This is a tremendous advantage, principally because Russia can, through natives, undermine or weaken or take over a country without war or invasion. This has been done in so many countries that more than 15 have been absorbed in the Soviet Universal State and such countries as Italy, France and Brazil are now being undermined;

4. No opposition party. In western countries, opposition parties, an opposition press, are regarded as essential to freedom. Every step that such a government makes has to take into consideration the views of the opposition. It has to study public opinion. In the United States, policy is not only formed in the State Department but also in the White House where departments under Harold Stassen and Nelson Rockefeller dealt with foreign policy. Also the president must consider chairmen of the Senate committee on foreign relations and the House committee on foreign affairs. Also he needs to think of the press and radio.

In Russia, it is different. The policy is laid down by the party and government and there can be no opposition. Actually there is none. The government owns the press and radio. To oppose the party and the government is to invite exile or death.

To state these Russian advantages is not to favor them. They are diabolical and have destroyed the liberties of man. Furthermore, the Russian way cannot be followed by those who believe in God, because the communists deny God's law and therefore no oath, no promise, no signature, no bond is valid.

Diet and Health

Even Young Child May Need Dentist

By HERMAN N. BUNDESEN

Even for a young child, dental care is extreely important.

Baby teeth serve as a guide for the permanent teeth which grow in beneath them and gradually replace them. If one is lost very long before there's a permanent tooth to replace it, your child's jaws may not grow properly and the permanent tooth may come in crowded and crooked.

Decayed Teeth

Moreover, a decayed baby tooth may cause one or more of the permanent teeth to become decayed, too.

A crown of a permanent tooth may touch a baby tooth. If the baby tooth is decayed, the permanent tooth may also decay at the point where it touches the decay.

Also decayed baby teeth can send poisons into the blood stream and to other parts of the body such as the heart, kidneys and joints and cause no end of trouble.

You should begin taking your youngster to the dentist for a regular checkup by the time he has all of his primary teeth, usually sometime between the age of two and three.

His Own Toothbrush

You can give your child his own toothbrush along about this time and teach him the correct method of brushing his teeth. Also give him his personal tube of dentifrice. Even a very small child can spread it on the brush with a minimum of waste.

Then, too, most kids like the taste of toothpaste. And the pleasant after-taste will encourage them to make brushing a daily habit.

Of course, don't hesitate to take your youngster to the dentist should he require dental attention no matter what his age. A toothache will hurt him just as much as one would bother you.

Kids Up To 14 May Get Vaccine

NEW YORK (AP)—Basil O'Connor, president of the National Foundation For Infantile Paralysis, says enough Salk vaccine may be available this year to inoculate all children up to age 14.

O'Connor added, however, in launching the 1956 March of Dimes last night: "The vaccine is worthless until it enters the arms of our children.. Parents must realize that the time to prevent polio next summer is now."

He stated that the paralytic polio attack rate last summer was nearly five times higher among unvaccinated children than among those in the same age group who received inoculations.

Uruguayan Panel To Decide On Duel For Chief Of State

MONTEVIDEO, Uruguay (AP)— Arbiters will decide whether chief of state Lui sBatelle Berres must fight a duel with a newspaper editor his own paper blasted.

The editor of the weekly La Nacional, Washington Guadalupe, had accused Batlle Berres of serving as a financial agent for Fernando Farina, managing editor of the chief of state's daily newspaper Accion.

Accion replied editorially that "apparently we are in the presence of low-minded people; only those who have dirty souls can write such things."

Guadalupe then challenged Batlle Berres to the duel. Uruguay's laws permit dueling, but only after an honor tribunal decides there is no other course possible.

Too Many Teen-Agers With Warped Outlook

A local citizen called this newspaper's attention to a clipping, a few days ago, which seemed to us to put a rather startling situation before the people in one large city recently where a poll was conducted among high school juniors.

The results were not entirely related to the desired purpose of the poll, in many cases, but appeared to be all the more worthy of attention for that very reason.

A prominent and reportedly highly qualified member of the staff of the Oklahoma City school system asked students who were just one year away from graduation, this question: "Why do you think more students do not take science or math in their course of studies?"

Apparently many of the students indicated a very mixed-up sense of values which had developed among many of the teenagers. Many treated the question very lightly.

Answers to this logical and simple question ranged from "who wants to be called a square or a brain?" to "a scientist is an evil genius on TV thinking up ways to torture people." Another classic gem was "Duke Snider (Brooklyn baseball player) is one of the 10 best dressed men. If he was a scientist, would he be?"

The rather calm observation from the teacher on these asinine replies was that there seemed to be a need for improved vocational counseling and he suggested that perhaps a better job of teaching could be done.

It's going to take a lot more than better guidance to correct such warped outlooks on life as these. Actually, such opinions are only another reflection of the easy mode of living and complete disinterest of things worthwhile so prevalent throughout the nation in this age of "progressive education."

The problem today is not merely getting more students interested in science fields, although there is a tremendous shortage of qualified personnel in scientific vocations. Of more immediate importance is the problem of getting today's students back on a more rational plane before unorthodoxism becomes the rule rather than the exception.

It isn't a question of conformists versus non-conformists. It's gone much farther than that when a high school junior will not consider a certain vocation because people might think of him as a "square" or a "brain."

There is no need for any emotion but pride to be attached to any intelligent field of endeavor and those who follow these fields should gain encouragement from disparagements voiced by the fickle, the immature or the hopelessly bewildered.

Good Time For World's End

By Hal Boyle

NEW YORK (AP)—If the world should end this very day, it couldn't find America better prepared.

If the universe suddenly exploded, practically every one in the land would be blown straight up into heaven. The rush of rarified souls would wear out the turnstiles at St. Peter's pearly gates.

For America today is an earthly paradise inhabited not by ordinary people but by 160-odd million pure-purposed angels.

An aura of unaccustomed saintliness rises over the nation like clean fog above a dismal swamp. Look around you. Isn't everybody wearing a shiny new halo?

There is a reason, of course. It is the season of the New Year's resolution, when all look within themselves and take an interior vow to lead a finer, nobler life.

The bad resolve to be good, the good resolve to be better. The old feckless, sinful past seems unutterably repugnant. One looks back at the mire-speckled creature he was only a week ago and mumbles whole-heartedly, "How could I ever have been like that? Never again!"

Sweetness and light brighten the very air. Everyone has decided to be more trustworthy, loyal, helpful, thrifty, courteous, kind, brave, clean and reverent —plus a lot of other things.

Nowhere is a frown in sight. Wherever you glance, all you see are rows of teeth determinedly fixed in a smile, smile, smile. There is a determined fix to the haloes, too, as if this time the wearers really meant to keep them clamped on their noggins forever.

The wife has vowed to spend less time playing bridge and spend more time playing with her children.

The husband has vowed to spend more time at home, too, and also take his wife out oftener.

The steongrapher has vowed to quit primping at her office desk.

The bus driver has vowed that, even if the paying customers don't move to the back of the bus in 1956, he won't let it ruin his temper.

Yes, whoever has a bad habit of any kind, has silently vowed to rid himself of it, whether it's beating his wife in private or using a toothpick in public. An atmosphere of personal sanctity wraps the country from coast to coast.

Ah, perhaps it would be better if the world did end this very day, and wafted all us suddenly pompous puritans to the heaven we now aspire to create on earth. For New Year's resolutions have a traditional brief life.

Certainly if a cataclysm destroyed the universe even as late as next week, half of us, our vows already forsaken, would find ourselves blown not toward heaven but in exactly the opposite direction.

Who Has Brains In World Game

By George Sokolsky

William Randolph Hearst, Jr., poses a question that requires analysis. He said:

"There seems to be developing a belief that everything Russia does on the diplomatic front is the product of brilliantly calculated statesmanship while Uncle Sam's corresponding moves are muddled and uninspired."

Neither the Russians nor the Americans have a monoply of intelligence. Man for man, John Foster Dulles is probably as keen an operator as Molotov or Gromyko. Nevertheless, we have witnessed an expansion of the Soviet Universal State since 1938 which could not have occurred unless Russia had certain advantages over the United States and the western world.

As a basis for this discussion, let us accept Mr. Hearst's conclusion that Russians are not geniuses and Americans are not dopes. Despite this conclusion, the Russians have made empirical advances which we cannot ignore. What, then, are their advantages?

1. Impudence. Not bound by moral considerations, unhampered by traditions of natural law and international law, doing as they please without regard to the restraints and inhibitions which civilization has imposed upon mankind, the Russians do as they please, at any cost to others. If that gives them an advantage, it is the advantage of the oppressor;

2. No allies. The Russians have no allies, only satellites. They do not need to call a conference of foreign ministers of their allies to determine a policy.

Our policies are always based on a compromise among all the powers that compose NATO and SEATO and the Bagdad powers and the Balkan Alliance or what remains of it. In a word, having joined in various alliances, we cannot ignore what our allies desire. Therefore, the United States is not altogether a free agent.

But Soviet Russia is a free agent. It, however, is not as free at the end of 1955 as it was in, say, 1948. In the first place, it now has to consider Red China, which rejects the role of a satellite; and it has to consider India which plays an increasing role in the Soviet Universal State as a friendly neutral. It ispossible that sooner or later, Soviet Russia may lose the advantage of having no allies, but only satellites, but up to now, this has been an enormous advantage.

3. The propaganda machine. Soviet Russia maintains a propaganda machine in every country of the world, namely, the communist party. It is impossible for the United States or any western country to maintain a similar agency for propaganda, infiltration and destruction. It would be regarded as an interference in the internal affairs of another country if the United States were to employ such means to strengthen its position. Many Americans would resent it and it is doubtful if Congress would permit expenditures for such a purpose. But there is not a country on earth in which the communist party, directly controlled by Russia, does not flourish openly or underground.

This is a tremendous advantage, principally because Russia can, through natives, undermine or weaken or take over a country without war or invasion. This has been done in so many countries that more than 15 have been absorbed in the Soviet Universal State and such countries as Italy, France and Brazil are now being undermined;

4. No opposition party. In western countries, opposition parties, an opposition press, are regarded as essential to freedom. Every step that such a government makes has to take into consideration the views of the opposition. It has to study public opinion. In the United States, policy is not only formed in the State Department but also in the White House where departments under Harold Stassen and Nelson Rockefeller dealt with foreign policy. Also the president must consider chairmen of the Senate committee on foreign relations and the House committee on foreign affairs. Also he needs to think of the press and radio.

In Russia, it is different. The policy is laid down by the party and government and there can be no opposition. Actually there is none. The government owns the press and radio. To oppose the party and the government is to invite exile or death.

To state these Russian advantages is not to favor them. They are diabolical and have destroyed the liberties of man. Furthermore, the Russian way cannot be followed by those who believe in God, because the communists deny God's law and therefore no oath, no promise, no signature, no bond is valid.

GOP Solons Win Honor In Party Affairs

3 Lawmakers Named Delegates To 1956 National Convention

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Republican leaders in the legislature have won a new honor in Ohio party affairs.

For the first time in the memory of political veterans, three lawmakers are among 10 candidates for delegate-at-large to the 1956 Republican national convention.

They are Sen. C. Stanley Mechem of Nelsonville and Reps. Roger Cloud of Degraff, Logan County, and Robert Taft of Cincinnati.

Mechem in his seventh term is Senate president pro tempore and Cloud in his fourth term is House speaker. Taft, son of the late Sen. Robert A. Taft, is serving his first term.

Republicans will elect 10 delegates at-large and 46 congressional district delegates in the May 8 primary. Each will have a vote in the GOP presidential nominating convention at San Francisco Aug. 20.

Delegates will be pledged to U.S. Sen. John W. Bricker, former Ohio governor, as their "favorite son" candidate for President pending disclosure of President Eisenhower's political plans.

Their second choice will be H. Chapman Rose of Cleveland, under secretary to George M. Humphrey, secretary of the treasury.

Bricker, the 1944 GOP vice presidential nominee, said in accepting the Ohio "favorite son" role:

"In so doing, I am privileged to join with other Ohio Republicans in restating our loyalty to President Eisenhower and our desire that he stand for reelection if, in his own good judgment, he should do so.

"By their official action, Ohio Republicans have demonstrated that the legal requirements of the primary election law can be met in a way that is consistent with loyalty to the President and that still does not weaken Ohio's voice in the Republican national convention nor embarrass the President with demands for an untimely decision."

Feb. 8 is the Ohio deadline for delegate candidates to file for the May 8 election. Because the President's decision is not expected until after the filing deadline, Ohioans adopted the "favorite son" device to hold their delegation for a bona fide candidate.

Selecting delegate at-large candidates were Bricker, Humphrey and Ray C. Bliss of Akron, Republican state chairman. Party spokesmen said the at-large slate provided well distributed representation for the entire state. Delegates from congressional districts will be picked later.

At-large delegate candidates besides Mechem, Cloud, Taft and Bliss are:

U.S. Sen. George H. Bender of Chagrin Falls, near Cleveland; U.S. Rep. Clarence J. Brown of Blanchester, GOP national committeeman; Mrs. Katharine Brown of Dayton, national committeewoman; Courtney Burton of Gates Mills, near Cleveland, state finance committee chairman; Mrs. Florence G. Morris of Toledo, head of the state GOP women's division and Mrs. Marion Knight of Perrysburg, member of the National Citizens for Eisenhower Committee.

Ray Brandenburg

everyone that your confidence in me was not misplaced.

"If you elect me, I will consider it not only a great honor, but also a great responsibility."

Brandenburg is a farm boy who has made good through his own efforts. While his interests are so many and varied, he is still a grass roots farmer who personally directs operations on both of his farms.

He was born on a farm near Villars Chapel, not far from Clarksville, a little more than 61 years ago. He grew up on the farm and learned through experience the farm chores like any other farm boy.

He went to a country school and later drove a horse and buggy 7 miles to Wilmington to go to high school.

After teaching in a rural school for two years, he went to Ohio Wesleyan University a Delaware.

After his marriage, he settled down on the farm where he tilled the soil and fed the livestock until 1928 when he went into the automobile business in Sabina.

Endowed with great physical and mental energy and sound business judgement, it was certain that Ray Brandenburg would continue to drive ahead with a determination that has marked his life and career—on the farm and in business.

Four years after he started in the automobile business in Sabina, he came to Washington C. H. in April of 1932 and opened the Buick and Chevrolet agency, which he still operates. Later he formed Don's Auto Sales Co. to handle the Cadillac and Oldsmobile cars and in 1941, he acquired the Chevrolet and Buick dealership in Wilmington.

Largely through his own dynamic energy, the three automobile businesses were soon on a solid foundation. Meanwhile, he had taken in with him his three sons-in-law, Bill McCoy in Wilmington and Wayne Bower and Dale Ward in Washington C. H., who now manage all three dealerships permanently.

Although, Brandenburg keeps in close touch with them and is always available for advice and counsel, he has the time now to devote his energy to other interests, not the least of which is farming.

Public service and public relations are not new to Ray Brandenburg. He has taken an active interest in civic affairs in Washington C. H. for many years. He served te Chamber of Commerce as its president for three terms and was active in reorganizing it after the war. He was a member of the Washington C. H. school board for 12 years and its president nearly a third of them.

When the Fayette County Agricultural Society was reorganized in 1935 to put on the Fair, Brandenburg was chosen for its president and has been reelected every year since then.

His sound judgement in business gradually became recognized throughout the state and 1948 he was elected president of the Ohio Automobile Dealers Association that represents more than 2,000 dealers.

The next year, in recognition of his executive and administrative ability, he was elected a director of the National Automobile Dealers Association, representing Ohio, and served two three-year-terms on the board.

It was during this period that he began to devote more and more of his personal attention to his farming interests in both Fayette and Clinton Counties.

Raising registered Hereford cattle on his El-Ray Farm near Buena Vista in Fayette County has been both a hobby and a successful farm-business enterprise. He served as president of the Ohio Hereford Association for two terms.

He is a member of Grace Methodist Church in Washington C. H. and chairman of the finance commission and one of the official board of the church.

He belongs to the Masonic Blue Lodge, the Elks and Eagles lodges of Washington C. H. and the Masonic Scottish Rite and Shrine of Aladdin Temple in Columbus.

This is the background of the man who is seeking the seat in the state Senate now held by Lowell Fess of Yellow Springs.

Wounded Cow Awarded $3000

IPOH, Perak State, Malaya (AP)—A 40-year-old cow elephant named Mek Yah has been awarded $3,000 by the Perak government for wounds received from Communist guerrillas while carrying supplies into the jungle for security forces.

After being wounded, Mek Yah fled into the bush and had to be recaptured. She was sent to the national park to recuperate.

FALSE TEETH That Loosen Need Not Embarrass

Many wearers of false teeth have suffered real embarrassment because their plate dropped, slipped or wobbled at just the wrong time. Do not live in fear of this happening to you. Just sprinkle a little FASTEETH, the alkaline (non-acid) powder, on your plates. Hold false teeth more firmly, so they feel more comfortable. Does not sour. Checks "plate odor" (denture breath). Get FASTEETH at any drug counter.

Hurricane Wins From Hillsboro

Circleville Loses To Greenfielders

Wilmington's Hurricane today was still atop the South Central Ohio League standing, but Hillsboro's Indians really gave the Wilmington boys a scare before they racked up their third SCO win by the narrow margin of 48 to 41.

That was the closest score for the Hurricane in any of its five wins. The Dayton Kiser outfit holds the only victory over the Hurricane, a 66-62 decision on Dec. 13.

The Hurricane's other two wins were over the Lions of WHS (83-63) and over Grenefield's Tigers (59-64).

For the Indians, that was their second SCO defeat. They have won one game, from Greenfield, 72-70. Their other loss was to the Lions of WHS, 55-49.

While the Hurricane was sweeping through to its third SCO win without a defeat by a league team, Greenfield's Tigers were handing the Tigers at Circleville a 57 to 51 set-back.

It was the second SCO less for the Circlevillians, who have yet to win a league game; their other defeat was by the Lions of WHS (54-43).

For the Greenfielders, this was their first SCO victory. Previously they had lost to the Indians (72-70) and to the Lions (69-54).

Tuesday night's games left the idle Lions in second place in the SCO scramble with two victories and one defeat.

Lion Cagers Meet Tigers Here Friday

The Lion cagers of Washington C. H. High School DO have a game Friday night and it will be played here. What's more, it will be an SCO League game with Greenfield's Tigers.

Due to a mix-up in dates on both the Washington C. H. and Greenfield schedules in the Record-Herald office, it was thought the Lions would not play until next Monday night. However, a check and double check through the offices of the two schools' principals, brought out that the game will be Friday night on the WHS floor.

The Lions have won two of their three SCO games to date and the Tigers have lost two of the three they have played.

Each team has lost to Wilmington's Hurricane and each team has won from Circleville's Tigers. However, the Lions won from Hillsboro's Indians (55-49) while the Tigers lost to them (72-70).

Friday night's game will be the first meeting of the Lions and Tigers this season. They will play the second on the Greenfield floor on Feb. 24; this will be the last game on each team's regular schedule.

Bulldog Cagers Lose at Jamestown

The Bloomingburg High School Bulldog basketball squad were battled in to a 96 to 62 defeat Tuesday night when they met what Bloomingburg coach Everett Rudolph called a "well-rounded" Jamestown club.

Playing on the Jamestown court, the Fayette County boys played most of their shots from the outside. They had to, with a tight Jamestown zone defense.

Percentage points show the way the game went. The Jamestown squad sunk 62 percent of their shots from the field and 75 percent at the foul line.

Bloomingburg made good on about 1-3 of their field goal attempts, landing 20 times in 62 attempts. Jamestown dropped 40 out of about 60 attempts, scoring on about 2-3 of their tries.

High scorers for the game were Lester Vincent of Bloomingburg, who racked up 27 points and six foot, four inch Hill of Jamestown, who totalled 22. Vincent was working the jump shot from about 20 feet out.

According to Rudolph the Jamestown lads were playing the backboards to their own advantage.

In the reserve game, the Bloomingburg juniors were edged 27 to 25. Scoring for Bloomingburg were Anderson, 4, Welsh, 4, Riley, 6, Heistand, 2, Snyder, 2, Chattin, 3 and Oberschlake, 4.

Bowersville Cagers Edge Jeffersonville

Bowersville's cagers, playing on their home floor, came from behind in the last period to beat Jeffersonville's Tigers, 53 to 42, Tuesday night.

It was a defensive game most of the way, with each team trying for possession of the ball and taking shots only when the opportunity looked good. Neither team did much gambling.

But, despite the "careful" strategy, most of the field goals were made from outside the defense perimeters each team set up around its goal.

The Bowersville boys were off to a fast start that gave them a first period lead of 13-8 — and, they bettered that performance in the last period when they outscored the Tigers, 18-5.

The Tigers put the clamps on the Bowersvillians in the second and third periods and steamed up their own offense to take a 37-35 lead at the end of the third period. But, they ran out of steam on the home stretch.

It was that last period surge by the home team that beat the Tigers. In that frame, the Bowersville boys got the range and ran their field goal total for the game up to 20, compared to 15 by the Tigers.

Mason, Smith and Wright paced the Tiger offense. Mason was high scorer with 12 points on 6 field goals. Smith and Wright got 10 points apiece. The Tigers hit 32 percent of their shots from the field.

The Jeffersonville Reserves won the preliminary game, 37 to 21. The Jeffersonville lineup and the scoring was M. Arnold 13, Burson 8, D. Davis 8, Hanners 5 and C. Jordan 3, Trimble, G. Arnold, Evans, Ritenour, J. Davis, Cook and R. Jordan.

Madison Juniors Are Nosed Out

The Madison Mills Juniors made a stout start and a stout finish but the relapse they suffered in between sent them down to a 39-36 defeat at the hands of the Trojans from St. Peter's Junior High School in Chillicothe Tuesday afternoon.

The Trojans are coached by Bob Summers who used to be the statistician for Record-Herald at the high school football and basketball games when he lived here.

Each team made 18 field goals, but the Trojans netted 3 free throws in 17 tosses while the Madison Mills boys were unable to hit that first shot in seven from the foul line.

The Madison Mills outfit tallied 14 points in the first period and 14 more in the last, but cashed in only 2 points in the second and 6 points in the third.

The Trojans have now won 8 games in a row and 9 out of 12 for the season.

College Cage Teams Stress More Offense

NEW YORK (AP)—Almost everywhere you look in college basketball the accent is on offense and more offense. At that rate it probably won't be long before 200-point games will be the rule rather than the exception.

Take, for example, some of last night's games.

Richmond and Furman pumped 222 points through the basket with Richmond winding up on the long end of a 130-92 score.

West Virginia came mighty close to the 100 mark in trampling Washington and Lee 98-84.

North Carolina walloped Louisiana State 95-69. The Tarheels almost certainly would have gone over 100 if they hadn't played substitutes a good part of the way.

In other games, DePaul crushed Illinois Normal 102-77. Vanderbilt downed William and Mary 89-80 in double overtime. Virginia defeated South Carolina 84-83. Carnegie Tech beat Penn State 69-62, Boston University defeated Northeastern 73-59 and Stanford nipped St. Mary's Calif. 51-50.

All America Darrell Floyd, the nation's top scorer last season, tossed in 40 points for Furman.

West Virginia racked up its fourth victory in five conference starts as Hot Rod Hundley scored 29 points.

Castellani Due To Test Fullmer

CLEVELAND (AP)—Rocky Castellani will be shooting for his 10th straight victory at the Cleveland Arena and a step closer to a shot at the middleweight title when he meets Gene Fullmer in a 10-round TV bout here tonight.

Castellani, a former coal miner from Luzerne, Pa., who now calls Cleveland his home, is the third-ranked middleweight behind champion Sugar Ray Robinson and former champion Bobo Olson. He lost a decision to Robinson in San Francisco last July, but had Sugar Ray in trouble after flooring him.

Fullmer, a strong and willing walloper from West Jordan, Utah, is hoping for an upset.

Knicks Halt Boston Winning Streak

NEW YORK (AP)—The New York Knickerbockers snapped Boston's seven-game winning streak last night in scoring a 107-97 victory over the Celtics in an NBA game.

The Philadelphia Warriors, sparked by Tom Gola's 20 points, routed Fort Wayne, 102-82, in the windup of the twin bill.

West Virginia came mighty close to the 100 mark in trampling Washington and Lee 98-84.

North Carolina walloped Louisiana State 95-69. The Tarheels almost certainly would have gone over 100 if they hadn't played substitutes a good part of the way.

In other games, DePaul crushed Illinois Normal 102-77. Vanderbilt downed William and Mary 89-80 in double overtime. Virginia defeated South Carolina 84-83. Carnegie Tech beat Penn State 69-62, Boston University defeated Northeastern 73-59 and Stanford nipped St. Mary's Calif. 51-50.

All America Darrell Floyd, the nation's top scorer last season, tossed in 40 points for Furman.

West Virginia racked up its fourth victory in five conference starts as Hot Rod Hundley scored 29 points.

Castellani Due To Test Fullmer

CLEVELAND (AP)—Rocky Castellani will be shooting for his 10th straight victory at the Cleveland Arena and a step closer to a shot at the middleweight title when he meets Gene Fullmer in a 10-round TV bout here tonight.

Castellani, a former coal miner from Luzerne, Pa., who now calls Cleveland his home, is the third-ranked middleweight behind champion Sugar Ray Robinson and former champion Bobo Olson. He lost a decision to Robinson in San Francisco last July, but had Sugar Ray in trouble after flooring him.

Fullmer, a strong and willing walloper from West Jordan, Utah, is hoping for an upset.

Knicks Halt Boston Winning Streak

NEW YORK (AP)—The New York Knickerbockers snapped Boston's seven-game winning streak last night in scoring a 107-97 victory over the Celtics in an NBA game.

The Philadelphia Warriors, sparked by Tom Gola's 20 points, routed Fort Wayne, 102-82, in the windup of the twin bill.

Ghost Status Seen For New York Boxing

St. Nick's Arena Loses Bookings, Big Garden May Be Next

NEW YORK (AP)—Will Madison Square Garden follow ancient St. Nicholas Arena into the dim shadows as a fight club with no fights?

That was the question before the house today as New York moved closer to becoming a ghost state for boxing with the loss of its only regular weekly fight show.

The London Sporting Club, which ran 86 consecutive weekly televised shows at St. Nick's, announced it was moving to Baltimore, effective Jan. 23, because of inability to make matches in New York. It reported bids from "20 other cities" but planned to run in Baltimore for at least four or six weeks.

The reason St. Nick's can't make matches in New York is the recent ruling by Julius Helfand, chairman of the New York State Athletic Commission, setting a Jan. 16 deadline for all managers to quit the Boxing Guild of New York.

"We are not interested in the guild or what trouble commissioners have with guilds," said Tex Sullivan, whose London Sporting Club shows are seen on Du Mont TV. "We just cannot get fighters to sign for bouts here after Jan. 16. When I talk to managers, they tell me the fighters 'aren't ready' or 'my guy's still bothered by cuts' or something like that."

Madison Square Garden has a show this Friday, but no more until Feb. 3 while an ice show takes over the arena. However, the International Boxing Club, which runs two weekly televised shows (Wednesdays from various cities and Fridays from New York) had planned to operate from Syracuse Friday, Jan. 20, with a heavyweight match between Hurricane Jackson and Bob Baker. The match hasn't been made yet and probably won't be made for Syracuse.

Jim Norris, IBC president, was due to return from Miami soon to make a decision on future plans. Harry Markson, IBC managing director, pointed out that the promoters had definite TV contracts to fulfill. He said there are "a good dozen Friday boxing dates" in the Garden in February, March and May under the current contract.

Helfand was due back from a vacation in Florida. Pending his return, officials of the commission refused comment. He had banned the guild after a long inquiry, on the grounds it was "detrimental to the best interests of boxing" for its "monopolistic" "shocking" and "devious" practices.

24 Horses Killed In Marietta Fire

MARIETTA (AP) — A building at the Washington County Fairgrounds went up in flames yesterday, killing 24 horses. Some owners said the horses, most of them harness racers, were valued at up to $10,000 each.

D. E. Hurst, fair board director, estimated the building loss between $30,000 and $50,000. He said the concrete block building and some horses were insured.

Nine persons owned the dead horses. Two owners, Ray and Charles Newhart, Marietta brothers, lost 11 harness horses. They were not available for comment.

Senior Bowl Sudden Death Setup Gets OK

MOBILE, Ala. (AP)—Senior Bowl officials today announced that a sudden death playoff is planned if the North and South teams end the regulation playing time in a deadlock in the seventh annual all-star game Saturday.

The teams are tied at 3-3 in the series. The South evened the count last year with a 12-6 victory.

North Coach Buddy Parker and South Coach Paul Brown agreed to the change this year so that one club can end the deadlock.

Both coaches looked their 25-man squads over yesterday and came up with drastic position changes aimed at winning.

Parker's most surprising move was the shifting of Jim Brown, UCLA All-America, from guard to linebacker. The other side of the line will be backed up by Jim Furey of Kansas State. Side backs were Tony Branoff of Michigan and Herb Nakken of Utah. Jerry Harkrader of Ohio State and Gary Lowe of Michigan State were the deep backs.

Brown built his defense around Maryland's fine center, Bob Pellegrini, whom he shifted to middle guard. The 225-pounder will be flanked by Don Goss, Southern Methodist tackle, and M. L. Brackett, Auburn tackle.

Maryland Fears Losing Jim Tatum

MIAMI BEACH, Fla. (AP)—Maryland moved today to retain Jim Tatum as head football coach and athletic director but gave him permission to discuss an offer with the University of North Carolina.

"We have told Mr. Tatum if he wanted security we could have the coaching position put on permanent tenure just like a professor," said Dr. Wilson H. Elkins, Maryland president.

Tatum said he was happy at Maryland but since his alma mater, North Carolina, made an offer, he asked and received permission to go "talk it over."

Ghost Status Seen For New York Boxing

St. Nick's Arena Loses Bookings, Big Garden May Be Next

NEW YORK (AP)—Will Madison Square Garden follow ancient St. Nicholas Arena into the dim shadows as a fight club with no fights?

That was the question before the house today as New York moved closer to becoming a ghost state for boxing with the loss of its only regular weekly fight show.

The London Sporting Club, which ran 86 consecutive weekly televised shows at St. Nick's, announced it was moving to Baltimore, effective Jan. 23, because of inability to make matches in New York. It reported bids from "20 other cities" but planned to run in Baltimore for at least four or six weeks.

The reason St. Nick's can't make matches in New York is the recent ruling by Julius Helfand, chairman of the New York State Athletic Commission, setting a Jan. 16 deadline for all managers to quit the Boxing Guild of New York.

"We are not interested in the guild or what trouble commissioners have with guilds," said Tex Sullivan, whose London Sporting Club shows are seen on Du Mont TV. "We just cannot get fighters to sign for bouts here after Jan. 16. When I talk to managers, they tell me the fighters 'aren't ready' or 'my guy's still bothered by cuts' or something like that."

Madison Square Garden has a show this Friday, but no more until Feb. 3 while an ice show takes over the arena. However, the International Boxing Club, which runs two weekly televised shows (Wednesdays from various cities and Fridays from New York) had planned to operate from Syracuse Friday, Jan. 20, with a heavyweight match between Hurricane Jackson and Bob Baker. The match hasn't been made yet and probably won't be made for Syracuse.

Jim Norris, IBC president, was due to return from Miami soon to make a decision on future plans. Harry Markson, IBC managing director, pointed out that the promoters had definite TV contracts to fulfill. He said there are "a good dozen Friday boxing dates" in the Garden in February, March and May under the current contract.

Helfand was due back from a vacation in Florida. Pending his return, officials of the commission refused comment. He had banned the guild after a long inquiry, on the grounds it was "detrimental to the best interests of boxing" for its "monopolistic" "shocking" and "devious" practices.

24 Horses Killed In Marietta Fire

MARIETTA (AP) — A building at the Washington County Fairgrounds went up in flames yesterday, killing 24 horses. Some owners said the horses, most of them harness racers, were valued at up to $10,000 each.

D. E. Hurst, fair board director, estimated the building loss between $30,000 and $50,000. He said the concrete block building and some horses were insured.

Nine persons owned the dead horses. Two owners, Ray and Charles Newhart, Marietta brothers, lost 11 harness horses. They were not available for comment.

Senior Bowl Sudden Death Setup Gets OK

MOBILE, Ala. (AP)—Senior Bowl officials today announced that a sudden death playoff is planned if the North and South teams end the regulation playing time in a deadlock in the seventh annual all-star game Saturday.

The teams are tied at 3-3 in the series. The South evened the count last year with a 12-6 victory.

North Coach Buddy Parker and South Coach Paul Brown agreed to the change this year so that one club can end the deadlock.

Both coaches looked their 25-man squads over yesterday and came up with drastic position changes aimed at winning.

Parker's most surprising move was the shifting of Jim Brown, UCLA All-America, from guard to linebacker. The other side of the line will be backed up by Jim Furey of Kansas State. Side backs were Tony Branoff of Michigan and Herb Nakken of Utah. Jerry Harkrader of Ohio State and Gary Lowe of Michigan State were the deep backs.

Brown built his defense around Maryland's fine center, Bob Pellegrini, whom he shifted to middle guard. The 225-pounder will be flanked by Don Goss, Southern Methodist tackle, and M. L. Brackett, Auburn tackle.

Maryland Fears Losing Jim Tatum

MIAMI BEACH, Fla. (AP)—Maryland moved today to retain Jim Tatum as head football coach and athletic director but gave him permission to discuss an offer with the University of North Carolina.

"We have told Mr. Tatum if he wanted security we could have the coaching position put on permanent tenure just like a professor," said Dr. Wilson H. Elkins, Maryland president.

Tatum said he was happy at Maryland but since his alma mater, North Carolina, made an offer, he asked and received permission to go "talk it over."

41 Cage Games Face Ohio College Teams This Week

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Ohio college basketball teams plunged into a brand new year of action with 41 games in the first week of 1956.

Ohio State and Michigan raised the curtain last night, the Buckeyes coasting to a 79-66 decision in the Big Ten opener for both clubs.

Included in the ambitious first-week program are 21 contests with out-of-state opponents, giving Ohio teams an opportunity to enhance their already - glittering record against the foreign foes. Through Monday night's game, Ohio clubs had won 61 and lost 36 against opponents from outside the Buckeye borders. The scoring edge also favored the Ohioans, 7,557 to 6,961.

Thirteen league games were on tap, including six in the Ohio Conference, five in the Mid-American, and one each in the Mid-Ohio and Big Ten.

Toledo and Kent State start the Mid-American firing tonight at Kent. Tomorrow night, Miami visits Marshall and Bowling Green travels to Western Michigan. Two Saturday night affairs find Ohio University at Kent State and Bowling Green at Miami.

Duquesne's perenially powerful Pennsylvanians sweep into Ohio for a pair of games, testing undefeated Dayton Thursday and Cincinnati's snarling Bearcats on Saturday night.

Buckeye battlers came back from holiday tournament play the proud possessors of two titles. Cincinnati, after a sputtering start, found itself just in time to grab off the Richmond Invitational at Richmond, Va., with three victories. One of them was a hair-raiser, 82-81 over previously unbeaten Seton Hall. The Bearcats, 4-2 before the tourney, now sport a 7-2 mark.

Xavier got the new year off to a fine start last night with a 92-67 triumph over Georgia Tech that brought the Musketeers the Queen City Invitational championship at Buffalo, N. Y. The Muskies got the shot at the title with victories over Niagara and St. Bonaventure.

The win gave Xavier a 7-0 mark for the season. Other Ohio teams with unsullied slates are Dayton (9-0), Defiance (5-0) and Ohio Northern (3-0).

Other Buckeye quints didn't fare as well in holiday tournaments. Ohio University and Bowling Green each dropped first game verdicts in the Kentucky Invitational at Louisville. Jim Snyder's OU Bobcats came back to grab off two victories and the Bee-Gees split in their other two.

Emporia State knocked off Findlay 83-68 in the first round at Terre Haute, Ind., and Toledo suffered two straight defeats at the Motor City Classic in Detroit. Brigham Young bumped the Rockets 89-70 and Penn State did it the next night 76-66.

Akron's tall and talented Zippers suffered their first loss of the season in the Quantico Invitational. The host Marines whipped the Zips 94-74 after Akron downed Iona 67-54 in the first round. Akron measured Ball State 95-83 in the consolation, and now owns a 9-1 record.

The so-called home court advantage continued to be more than a myth. In games to date, host clubs have won 105 while the visitors have copped 45.

Nation's Top Athlete Of '55: Who Else But Hop Cassady?

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—A freckle-faced redhead who thought he was too small for big-time college football today was named the nation's top male athlete of 1955.

He's Howard (Hopalong) Cassady, who came to Ohio State University four years ago a scrawny 150-pounder and grew into one of the greatest gridiron giants of our times.

The likeable kid who "always dreamed of playing in that big stadium" ran away from the other contenders for the honors with the same, clear-cut effectiveness as he did enemy players in his four glorious years at Ohio State.

Cassady piled up 257 points in The Associated Press year - end poll, nearly 100 more than his nearest rival, Heavyweight Champion Rocky Marciano. The 179 sports writers and broadcasters who took part in the poll gave Hopalong 53 first place votes, 37 second and 24 third. The Rock had 35 firsts, 16 seconds and 24 thirds for 161 points on the 3-2-1 scoring basis.

The scintillating halfback, who consistently came up with the "big play" when it was needed most, picked Ohio State over dozens of other schools and enrolled there in the spring of 1952. He was eligible for varsity football that autumn and the season was only a few minutes old when Hoppy got a chance to prove himself. He did it with three touchdowns and sparkling all-around play in a lopsided win over Indiana.

From that day on, OSU foes were trying to devise ways to stop this dynamic little guy with the number 40 on his jersey. Most of them never did.

Buckeye Coach Woody Hayes was convinced he wanted Cassady when he saw him pour in the last 12 points that gave his high school basketball team an upset win over a championship club.

But Hoppy wasn't convinced. Did he want Ohio State?

More than anything else in the world," said Hoppy. Did he think he could make the grade in the toughest conference in the world?

"He wasn't sure," said his father. "More than anything, he wanted a chance to play. He didn't want to sit on the bench. He figured that if he went to an out-of-town school and didn't make it, he wouldn't look so bad in front of his hometown folks. He didn't want to go up to State and sit on the bench."

Sparkplug of winning Buckeye teams his first two seasons, Hoppy and the Bucks rode to fame in his junior and senior years. In 1954, Ohio State won the Big Ten, national and Rose Bowl championships and Cassady gained All-America recognition.

Coaches and writers have heaped lavish encomium upon him. But most of them agreed the 5-10, 175-pound senior had his greatest year in 1955. In every game he was a marked man. Ohio State had no passing attack and everyone knew it. All the other teams had to do was "stop Hop."

But in nine games, he rushed 161 times, gained 984 yards and lost 26 for a 5.9 average. He scored 14 touchdowns rushing and another on a 37-yard punt return for a total of 90 points. In four years, he scored 222 points on 37 touchdowns to break the school record of 201 set in 1919 by another All-America halfback, Chic Harley.

The Buckeyes weren't eligible for another Rose Bowl trip, but a 17-0 win over Michigan gave them the Big Ten crown for the second straight year. They won seven of nine games after a 10-0 record the year before.

Married and the father of a 2-year-old son, Cassady is an All-America performer both on and off the field. He's faithful about attending classes and comes out with better than average grades. One high OSU official said this of Cassady: "Probably no one in the history of our university has had so much favorable publicity. Through all of this, Howard's first consideration has been for his teammates, coaches and university officials. His only fault is that he tries too hard to keep from letting other people down."

Cleveland Cops Probe Girl's Death

CLEVELAND (AP) — Police are questioning Louis Statler, a 69-year-old former wrestler, in the strangulation of an Altoona, Pa., girl here last fall.

Arrested in Chicago last Dec. 10, Statler was brought here yesterday, still insisting he had nothing to do with the death of 18-year-old Gloria Ferry. He said she accompanied him here and to Chicago, but left him there.

Gloria's body was found in Brookside Park last Oct. 9. She had been Statler's housekeeper for a time in Altoona until her parents ordered her to return home.

41 Cage Games Face Ohio College Teams This Week

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Ohio college basketball teams plunged into a brand new year of action with 41 games in the first week of 1956.

Ohio State and Michigan raised the curtain last night, the Buckeyes coasting to a 79-66 decision in the Big Ten opener for both clubs.

Included in the ambitious first-week program are 21 contests with out-of-state opponents, giving Ohio teams an opportunity to enhance their already - glittering record against the foreign foes. Through Monday night's game, Ohio clubs had won 61 and lost 36 against opponents from outside the Buckeye borders. The scoring edge also favored the Ohioans, 7,557 to 6,961.

Thirteen league games were on tap, including six in the Ohio Conference, five in the Mid-American, and one each in the Mid-Ohio and Big Ten.

Toledo and Kent State start the Mid-American firing tonight at Kent. Tomorrow night, Miami visits Marshall and Bowling Green travels to Western Michigan. Two Saturday night affairs find Ohio University at Kent State and Bowling Green at Miami.

Duquesne's perenially powerful Pennsylvanians sweep into Ohio for a pair of games, testing undefeated Dayton Thursday and Cincinnati's snarling Bearcats on Saturday night.

Buckeye battlers came back from holiday tournament play the proud possessors of two titles. Cincinnati, after a sputtering start, found itself just in time to grab off the Richmond Invitational at Richmond, Va., with three victories. One of them was a hair-raiser, 82-81 over previously unbeaten Seton Hall. The Bearcats, 4-2 before the tourney, now sport a 7-2 mark.

Xavier got the new year off to a fine start last night with a 92-67 triumph over Georgia Tech that brought the Musketeers the Queen City Invitational championship at Buffalo, N. Y. The Muskies got the shot at the title with victories over Niagara and St. Bonaventure.

The win gave Xavier a 7-0 mark for the season. Other Ohio teams with unsullied slates are Dayton (9-0), Defiance (5-0) and Ohio Northern (3-0).

Other Buckeye quints didn't fare as well in holiday tournaments. Ohio University and Bowling Green each dropped first game verdicts in the Kentucky Invitational at Louisville. Jim Snyder's OU Bobcats came back to grab off two victories and the Bee-Gees split in their other two.

Emporia State knocked off Findlay 83-68 in the first round at Terre Haute, Ind., and Toledo suffered two straight defeats at the Motor City Classic in Detroit. Brigham Young bumped the Rockets 89-70 and Penn State did it the next night 76-66.

Akron's tall and talented Zippers suffered their first loss of the season in the Quantico Invitational. The host Marines whipped the Zips 94-74 after Akron downed Iona 67-54 in the first round. Akron measured Ball State 95-83 in the consolation, and now owns a 9-1 record.

The so-called home court advantage continued to be more than a myth. In games to date, host clubs have won 105 while the visitors have copped 45.

Nation's Top Athlete Of '55: Who Else But Hop Cassady?

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—A freckle-faced redhead who thought he was too small for big-time college football today was named the nation's top male athlete of 1955.

He's Howard (Hopalong) Cassady, who came to Ohio State University four years ago a scrawny 150-pounder and grew into one of the greatest gridiron giants of our times.

The likeable kid who "always dreamed of playing in that big stadium" ran away from the other contenders for the honors with the same, clear-cut effectiveness as he did enemy players in his four glorious years at Ohio State.

Cassady piled up 257 points in The Associated Press year - end poll, nearly 100 more than his nearest rival, Heavyweight Champion Rocky Marciano. The 179 sports writers and broadcasters who took part in the poll gave Hopalong 53 first place votes, 37 second and 24 third. The Rock had 35 firsts, 16 seconds and 24 thirds for 161 points on the 3-2-1 scoring basis.

The scintillating halfback, who consistently came up with the "big play" when it was needed most, picked Ohio State over dozens of other schools and enrolled there in the spring of 1952. He was eligible for varsity football that autumn and the season was only a few minutes old when Hoppy got a chance to prove himself. He did it with three touchdowns and sparkling all-around play in a lopsided win over Indiana.

From that day on, OSU foes were trying to devise ways to stop this dynamic little guy with the number 40 on his jersey. Most of them never did.

Buckeye Coach Woody Hayes was convinced he wanted Cassady when he saw him pour in the last 12 points that gave his high school basketball team an upset win over a championship club.

But Hoppy wasn't convinced. Did he want Ohio State?

More than anything else in the world," said Hoppy. Did he think he could make the grade in the toughest conference in the world?

"He wasn't sure," said his father. "More than anything, he wanted a chance to play. He didn't want to sit on the bench. He figured that if he went to an out-of-town school and didn't make it, he wouldn't look so bad in front of his hometown folks. He didn't want to go up to State and sit on the bench."

Sparkplug of winning Buckeye teams his first two seasons, Hoppy and the Bucks rode to fame in his junior and senior years. In 1954, Ohio State won the Big Ten, national and Rose Bowl championships and Cassady gained All-America recognition.

Coaches and writers have heaped lavish encomium upon him. But most of them agreed the 5-10, 175-pound senior had his greatest year in 1955. In every game he was a marked man. Ohio State had no passing attack and everyone knew it. All the other teams had to do was "stop Hop."

But in nine games, he rushed 161 times, gained 984 yards and lost 26 for a 5.9 average. He scored 14 touchdowns rushing and another on a 37-yard punt return for a total of 90 points. In four years, he scored 222 points on 37 touchdowns to break the school record of 201 set in 1919 by another All-America halfback, Chic Harley.

The Buckeyes weren't eligible for another Rose Bowl trip, but a 17-0 win over Michigan gave them the Big Ten crown for the second straight year. They won seven of nine games after a 10-0 record the year before.

Married and the father of a 2-year-old son, Cassady is an All-America performer both on and off the field. He's faithful about attending classes and comes out with better than average grades. One high OSU official said this of Cassady: "Probably no one in the history of our university has had so much favorable publicity. Through all of this, Howard's first consideration has been for his teammates, coaches and university officials. His only fault is that he tries too hard to keep from letting other people down."

Cleveland Cops Probe Girl's Death

CLEVELAND (AP) — Police are questioning Louis Statler, a 69-year-old former wrestler, in the strangulation of an Altoona, Pa., girl here last fall.

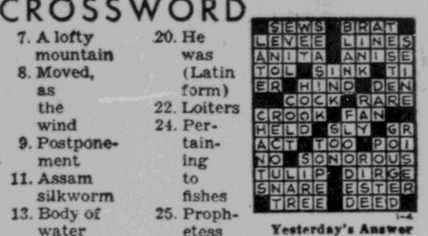

Arrested in Chicago last Dec. 10, Statler was brought here yesterday, still insisting he had nothing to do with the death of 18-year-old Gloria Ferry. He said she accompanied him here and to Chicago, but left him there.

Gloria's body was found in Brookside Park last Oct. 9. She had been Statler's housekeeper for a time in Altoona until her parents ordered her to return home.

Ghost Status Seen For New York Boxing

St. Nick's Arena Loses Bookings, Big Garden May Be Next

NEW YORK (AP)—Will Madison Square Garden follow ancient St. Nicholas Arena into the dim shadows as a fight club with no fights?

That was the question before the house today as New York moved closer to becoming a ghost state for boxing with the loss of its only regular weekly fight show.

The London Sporting Club, which ran 86 consecutive weekly televised shows at St. Nick's, announced it was moving to Baltimore, effective Jan. 23, because of inability to make matches in New York. It reported bids from "20 other cities" but planned to run in Baltimore for at least four or six weeks.

The reason St. Nick's can't make matches in New York is the recent ruling by Julius Helfand, chairman of the New York State Athletic Commission, setting a Jan. 16 deadline for all managers to quit the Boxing Guild of New York.

"We are not interested in the guild or what trouble commissioners have with guilds," said Tex Sullivan, whose London Sporting Club shows are seen on Du Mont TV. "We just cannot get fighters to sign for bouts here after Jan. 16. When I talk to managers, they tell me the fighters 'aren't ready' or 'my guy's still bothered by cuts' or something like that."

Madison Square Garden has a show this Friday, but no more until Feb. 3 while an ice show takes over the arena. However, the International Boxing Club, which runs two weekly televised shows (Wednesdays from various cities and Fridays from New York) had planned to operate from Syracuse Friday, Jan. 20, with a heavyweight match between Hurricane Jackson and Bob Baker. The match hasn't been made yet and probably won't be made for Syracuse.

Jim Norris, IBC president, was due to return from Miami soon to make a decision on future plans. Harry Markson, IBC managing director, pointed out that the promoters had definite TV contracts to fulfill. He said there are "a good dozen Friday boxing dates" in the Garden in February, March and May under the current contract.

Helfand was due back from a vacation in Florida. Pending his return, officials of the commission refused comment. He had banned the guild after a long inquiry, on the grounds it was "detrimental to the best interests of boxing" for its "monopolistic" "shocking" and "devious" practices.

Senior Bowl Sudden Death Setup Gets OK

MOBILE, Ala. (AP)—Senior Bowl officials today announced that a sudden death playoff is planned if the North and South teams end the regulation playing time in a deadlock in the seventh annual all-star game Saturday.

The teams are tied at 3-3 in the series. The South evened the count last year with a 12-6 victory.

North Coach Buddy Parker and South Coach Paul Brown agreed to the change this year so that one club can end the deadlock.

Both coaches looked their 25-man squads over yesterday and came up with drastic position changes aimed at winning.

Parker's most surprising move was the shifting of Jim Brown, UCLA All-America, from guard to linebacker. The other side of the line will be backed up by Jim Furey of Kansas State. Side backs were Tony Branoff of Michigan and Herb Nakken of Utah. Jerry Harkrader of Ohio State and Gary Lowe of Michigan State were the deep backs.

Brown built his defense around Maryland's fine center, Bob Pellegrini, whom he shifted to middle guard. The 225-pounder will be flanked by Don Goss, Southern Methodist tackle, and M. L. Brackett, Auburn tackle.

24 Horses Killed In Marietta Fire

MARIETTA (AP) — A building at the Washington County Fairgrounds went up in flames yesterday, killing 24 horses. Some owners said the horses, most of them harness racers, were valued at up to $10,000 each.

D. E. Hurst, fair board director, estimated the building loss between $30,000 and $50,000. He said the concrete block building and some horses were insured.

Nine persons owned the dead horses. Two owners, Ray and Charles Newhart, Marietta brothers, lost 11 harness horses. They were not available for comment.

Maryland Fears Losing Jim Tatum

MIAMI BEACH, Fla. (AP)—Maryland moved today to retain Jim Tatum as head football coach and athletic director but gave him permission to discuss an offer with the University of North Carolina.

"We have told Mr. Tatum if he wanted security we could have the coaching position put on permanent tenure just like a professor," said Dr. Wilson H. Elkins, Maryland president.

Tatum said he was happy at Maryland but since his alma mater, North Carolina, made an offer, he asked and received permission to go "talk it over."

Juvenile Problem Here Is Discussed

The inner workings of the probate and juvenile courts were described for the Washington C. H. Lions club at its meeting Tuesday evening in the Country Club dining room.

Introduced by Richard Rankin, the judge of the probate court, Robert L. Brubaker held the attention of the 98 members and two guests with a discussion of the problems that confront the court each day. He also told the Lions about the facilities that are available for handling them.

Judge Brubaker said that in Fayette County, juvenile matters are handled by the probate court judge, who also acts as juvenile judge; it actually operates as a combined court, he said.

Anyone under 18 years of age is a juvenile and is under the juvenile court code. Actually the juvenile judge tries to do what is best for the child and only resorts to punishment as the last means.

Judge Brubaker classified the three types of juveniles as: Deliquents who break the state, health and moral laws; those who are neglected and lack something for proper living through the fault of their parents and the dependents, such as the crippled and physically handicapped.

The use of correction schools is usually the last resort taken by the courts; first all children are counselled by the court and most are usually placed on probation with frequent visits to the court as a requirement.

Facilities here for the handling of juveniles are the Children's Home where 50 children can be accommodated and foster home, in which at the present time another 50 are placed in throughout the city and county. Those in the Children's Home and foster homes are primarily those who have been neglected or are dependent childrn, Judge Brubaker said.

IN SUMMING up his observations of the juveniles in Fayette County, the speaker recommended the inclusion of special educational classes in the schools as one means of aid.

Each individual resident of this community should have a definite interest in the juvenile problems as each juvenile of today will be an adult resident in a few years and how well they become adjusted determines what kind of resident they will make and their children will make, Judge Brubaker said.

Not wishing to paint a bleak picture, Judge Brubaker said: "I do not want to say everything is rosy here in Fayette County, and according to our size, we probably have our share of difficulties compared to congested city area. While we have not had the sensational crimes of many areas, it's a short distance from the frying pan into the fire. If the conditions are present, you can't tell where lightning may strike. I therefore feel it is to the interest of the community if the problem be approached without alarm but with a conscientious effort to make it better if we can.

"You members of the Lions Club are helping with your eye conservation program, but I can think of two other ways in which an organization of this type might help.

"First, the children need somewhere to go and something to do. The swimming pool and park and the Little League baseball program have been steps in the right direction but it would be fine if a gathering place for the teen-agers such as a youth center could be established here. Too often our young people go off to other cities and we should try to keep them here.

"Second, the foundation of a Big Brothers organization here would help in the form of interest and attention as well as direction for the children. Such organization has worked successfully in other localities and has given a lot of satisfaction to the participants as well as helping the children.

TWO GUESTS were present. They were introduced by Joe White, who is their host while they are visiting this area. They are John Shaw and Bryce Osmond of Wagga Wagga, Australia.

White became acquainted with the parents of one of the men while stationed in Australia during World War II.

They are touring this country and Canada and will sail on Jan. 13 for England. They gave the Lions a brief summary of their travels to date. They left their homes last March and intend to return in June.

John Breiner, the general chairman of the 1956 Lions Club Minstrel Show announced that Don Gibson will serve as the interlocutor and that plans are rapidly nearing completion for the Feb. 28 show.

The next meeting of the club will be Jan. 17, when the district governor will be the guest. On Jan. 31 the annual get-to-gether of all four of the county's Lions clubs will be held here with Jeffersonville, Bloomingburg and Good Hope Clubs as guests.

CASE CONTINUED

The divorce action of Carl Harris against Ruth Harris, when it came up for hearing in common pleas court Wednesday forenoon, was continued 30 days when it developed that the plaintiff had not paid expense money to the defendant.

DECISION GIVEN

The case of Marcella Lee Huff against Clifford McKinley Warner that originated in Justice C. R. Robinson's court at Jeffersonville, has been decided by Judge John P. Case, who dismissed the case without prejudice to the institution of a proper proceeding in accordance with law.

The defense had filed a motion for dismissal on grounds that the complainant was a minor and could not legally bring the action, and this formed the grounds for the dismissal.

TO USE TREES

GREENFIELD — The Sportsmen's organization will collect Christmas trees and use them for wildlife shelter. The trees will be collected at the curb.

The Japanese beetle, first detected in this country in 1916, has now been found as far west as the Mississippi Valley.

Girl Scouts Elect Officers Of Troop

Jacqueline Mosley was elected president of Girl Scout Troop No. 2 here at a meeting of that group.

Other new officers elected at that meeting were Neila Cousins, vice president, Rosemary Hargo, secretary, Patty Johns, treasurer, Roxie Caliman, news reporter and Rosemary Hargo, song leader.

Neila Cousins led discussion on song books for each of the girls. The past president, Aileen Hargo, called the meeting to order with the Girl Scout promise, with each girl repeating a law. Roll call and reports by the secretary and treasurer followed.

Guest for the meeting was Mrs. Betty Rhoades.

Work Has Started On New Buildings

Work has started on the city's new pre-fabricated steel building which is to house much of the city's street department equipment, including sweeper, grade trucks, leaf collector, etc.

The building, 40 by 64 feet, will be located on the east side of North Fayette Street, a few rods South of the B.&O. Railroad, on the lot which the city purchased a few weeks ago.

Tuesday City Manager James F. Parkinson did the surveying and set the stakes for the building. Excavation and foundation work will be pushed as weather permits.

Within a few weeks the building should be ready for use.

W. W. Montgomery At Trustee Meeting

W. W. Montgomery, county agent here and a trustee of the 4-H Club Camp Inc., attended the quarterly meeting of trustees for Camp Clifton in Springfield, Wednesday.

The organization operates the camp, near Yellow Springs in Greene County and serving a total of eight counties. Last year, according to Montgomery, over 2,200 4-H Club members and others were at the camp from June to August, with 232 persons from Fayette County attending.

Major improvements are planned for the campsite, Montgomery said, with the possibility of building additional cabins.

Swine Association Annual Meet Set

Plans for the annual meeting of the Swine Breeders and Feeders Association were wrapped up Tuesday evening at a session of the Association's directors and officers.

Highlights of the annual meeting, to be held at 8 P. M. Monday in the Farm Bureau auditorium, will be a panel discussion on "What Can We Do About the Hog Situation?" and election of 1956 officers and directors for Concord, Marion, Madison, Paint and Jasper Townships.

Also on the program for the meeting are Secretary C. E. Rhoad's report on the Association's goals and accomplishments during 1955 and a discussion of the proposed 1956 program with President Harry Craig in charge.

Serving on the panel to discuss possible remedies for slumping hog prices will be Howard Davison, hog salesman for the Eastern Order Buying Co. in Columbus; Clarence Wallace of the Kroger Co.; Dr. Ned Abbott, veterinarian; Delbert Morris, hog producer, and Herbert Barnes, swine specialist at Ohio State University.

"Since over 50 percent of the gross income on the farms of Fayette County comes from the sale of hogs," said County Agent W. W. Montgomery, "the subject of the panel is of real interest to all hog producers."

HULL HEADS BOARD

GREENFIELD — Joseph Hull was elected president of the board of education and Wilbur A. O'Dell was named clerk at a salary of $2,250 a year.

Enlistments Up Guard Strength

Company M Platoon Made More Mobile

Four new enlistments have moved Company M, National Guard unit here, a bit farther toward its goal of 100-man strength. There are 87 men in the unit now, with a drive being made to increase the unit strength.

Reorganization under new army regulations has changed the outfit's recoilless platoon to a completely mobile anti-tank platoon with six jeep-mounted recoilless rifles and other additional equipment.

Included in the reorganization are new ratings, adding several high non-commissioned officer ranks to the organization schedule.

Under other new regulations records of the Guard are being changed to match personnel records of the regular army. The switch in record form is designed to make the unit more mobile, according to Warrant Officer Robert Goodson.

Preparations are being made now for the annual armory inspection, scheduled for March 7.

The unit's small bore rifle team is now practicing for a rematch late in January for the annual rifle trophy. The team tied three ways with two other companies at a rifle match in December.

The four recent enlistees in the company are Harold R. Cox, Orville Mullins Jr., Sgt. Robert Lee Cyrus and SFC John Omer Hare.

Cox, 22, enlisted for three years. He has had three years of ROTC training, holds the rank of Private and will serve as company personnel clerk. A Washington C. H. resident, he is employed by the Record-Herald.

Mullins, 17, a Washington C. H. High School student, enlisted for three years. He'll be assigned a position in the company after four months of recruit platoon duty.

Sgt. Cyrus, who enlisted for three years, has had previous Guard duty and has served three years in the regular army. A Sinclair Service Station employee and Washington C. H. resident, he has been assigned duty as squad leader.

SFC Hare, a Jeffersonville resident, is a World War II veteran serving in Company M as chief fire data computer in the mortar platoon. An upholsterer in Jeffersonville, he has enlisted for three years.

In one out of every six fatal traffic accidents in 1954 the weather was rainy, snowy or foggy.

TO BORROW ON NOTE

GREENFIELD — Plans have been made to borrow $12,000 to meet and pay old bills, one of which is to J. D. Baker of Washington C. H. for $744 for street resurfacing.

WEST HEADS BOARD

WILMINGTON — Will W. West of near Martinsville, has been elected president of the Clinton County Commissioners.

41 Cage Games Face Ohio College Teams This Week

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Ohio college basketball teams plunged into a brand new year of action with 41 games in the first week of 1956.

Ohio State and Michigan raised the curtain last night, the Buckeyes coasting to a 79-66 decision in the Big Ten opener for both clubs.

Included in the ambitious first-week program are 21 contests with out-of-state opponents, giving Ohio teams an opportunity to enhance their already - glittering record against the foreign foes. Through Monday night's game, Ohio clubs had won 61 and lost 36 against opponents from outside the Buckeye borders. The scoring edge also favored the Ohioans, 7,557 to 6,961.

Thirteen league games were on tap, including six in the Ohio Conference, five in the Mid-American, and one each in the Mid-Ohio and Big Ten.

Toledo and Kent State start the Mid-American firing tonight at Kent. Tomorrow night, Miami visits Marshall and Bowling Green travels to Western Michigan. Two Saturday night affairs find Ohio University at Kent State and Bowling Green at Miami.

Duquesne's perenially powerful Pennsylvanians sweep into Ohio for a pair of games, testing undefeated Dayton Thursday and Cincinnati's snarling Bearcats on Saturday night.

Buckeye battlers came back from holiday tournament play the proud possessors of two titles. Cincinnati, after a sputtering start, found itself just in time to grab off the Richmond Invitational at Richmond, Va., with three victories. One of them was a hair-raiser, 82-81 over previously unbeaten Seton Hall. The Bearcats, 4-2 before the tourney, now sport a 7-2 mark.

Xavier got the new year off to a fine start last night with a 92-67 triumph over Georgia Tech that brought the Musketeers the Queen City Invitational championship at Buffalo, N. Y. The Muskies got the shot at the title with victories over Niagara and St. Bonaventure.

The win gave Xavier a 7-0 mark for the season. Other Ohio teams with unsullied slates are Dayton (9-0), Defiance (5-0) and Ohio Northern (3-0).

Other Buckeye quints didn't fare as well in holiday tournaments. Ohio University and Bowling Green each dropped first game verdicts in the Kentucky Invitational at Louisville. Jim Snyder's OU Bobcats came back to grab off two victories and the Bee-Gees split in their other two.

Emporia State knocked off Findlay 83-68 in the first round at Terre Haute, Ind., and Toledo suffered two straight defeats at the Motor City Classic in Detroit. Brigham Young bumped the Rockets 89-70 and Penn State did it the next night 76-66.

Akron's tall and talented Zippers suffered their first loss of the season in the Quantico Invitational. The host Marines whipped the Zips 94-74 after Akron downed Iona 67-54 in the first round. Akron measured Ball State 95-83 in the consolation, and now owns a 9-1 record.

The so-called home court advantage continued to be more than a myth. In games to date, host clubs have won 105 while the visitors have copped 45.

Nation's Top Athlete Of '55: Who Else But Hop Cassady?

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—A freckle-faced redhead who thought he was too small for big-time college football today was named the nation's top male athlete of 1955.

He's Howard (Hopalong) Cassady, who came to Ohio State University four years ago a scrawny 150-pounder and grew into one of the greatest gridiron giants of our times.

The likeable kid who "always dreamed of playing in that big stadium" ran away from the other contenders for the honors with the same, clear-cut effectiveness as he did enemy players in his four glorious years at Ohio State.

Cassady piled up 257 points in The Associated Press year - end poll, nearly 100 more than his nearest rival, Heavyweight Champion Rocky Marciano. The 179 sports writers and broadcasters who took part in the poll gave Hopalong 53 first place votes, 37 second and 24 third. The Rock had 35 firsts, 16 seconds and 24 thirds for 161 points on the 3-2-1 scoring basis.

The scintillating halfback, who consistently came up with the "big play" when it was needed most, picked Ohio State over dozens of other schools and enrolled there in the spring of 1952. He was eligible for varsity football that autumn and the season was only a few minutes old when Hoppy got a chance to prove himself. He did it with three touchdowns and sparkling all-around play in a lopsided win over Indiana.

From that day on, OSU foes were trying to devise ways to stop this dynamic little guy with the number 40 on his jersey. Most of them never did.

Buckeye Coach Woody Hayes was convinced he wanted Cassady when he saw him pour in the last 12 points that gave his high school basketball team an upset win over a championship club.

But Hoppy wasn't convinced. Did he want Ohio State?

More than anything else in the world," said Hoppy. Did he think he could make the grade in the toughest conference in the world?

"He wasn't sure," said his father. "More than anything, he wanted a chance to play. He didn't want to sit on the bench. He figured that if he went to an out-of-town school and didn't make it, he wouldn't look so bad in front of his hometown folks. He didn't want to go up to State and sit on the bench."

Sparkplug of winning Buckeye teams his first two seasons, Hoppy and the Bucks rode to fame in his junior and senior years. In 1954, Ohio State won the Big Ten, national and Rose Bowl championships and Cassady gained All-America recognition.

Coaches and writers have heaped lavish encomiums upon him. But most of them agreed the 5-10, 175-pound senior had his greatest year in 1955. In every game he was a marked man. Ohio State had no passing attack and everyone knew it. All the other teams had to do was "stop Hop."

But in nine games, he rushed 161 times, gained 984 yards and lost 26 for a 5.9 average. He scored 14 touchdowns rushing and another on a 37-yard punt return for a total of 90 points. In four years, he scored 222 points on 37 touchdowns to break the school record of 201 set in 1919 by another All-America halfback, Chic Harley.

The Buckeyes weren't eligible for another Rose Bowl trip, but a 17-0 win over Michigan gave them the Big Ten crown for the second straight year. They won seven of nine games after a 10-0 record the year before.

Married and the father of a 2-year-old son, Cassady is an All-America performer both on and off the field. He's faithful about attending classes and comes out with better than average grades. One high OSU official said this of Cassady: "Probably no one in the history of our university has had so much favorable publicity. Through all of this, Howard's first consideration has been for his teammates, coaches and university officials. His only fault is that he tries too hard to keep from letting other people down."

Cleveland Cops Probe Girl's Death

CLEVELAND (AP) — Police are questioning Louis Statler, a 69-year-old former wrestler, in the strangulation of an Altoona, Pa., girl here last fall.

Arrested in Chicago last Dec. 10, Statler was brought here yesterday, still insisting he had nothing to do with the death of 18-year-old Gloria Ferry. He said she accompanied him here and to Chicago, but left him there.

Gloria's body was found in Brookside Park last Oct. 9. She had been Statler's housekeeper for a time in Altoona until her parents ordered her to return home.

DAILY CRYPTOQUOTE — Here's how to work it:

A X Y D L B A A X R
is L O N G F E L L O W

One letter simply stands for another. In this example A is used for the three L's, X for the two O's, etc. Single letters, apostrophies, the length and formation of the words are all hints. Each day the code letters are different.

Juvenile Problem Here Is Discussed

The inner workings of the probate and juvenile courts were described for the Washington C. H. Lions club at its meeting Tuesday evening in the Country Club dining room.

Introduced by Richard Rankin, the judge of the probate court, Robert L. Brubaker held the attention of the 98 members and two guests with a discussion of the problems that confront the court each day. He also told the Lions about the facilities that are available for handling them.

Judge Brubaker said that in Fayette County, juvenile matters are handled by the probate court judge, who also acts as juvenile judge; it actually operates as a combined court, he said.

Anyone under 18 years of age is a juvenile and is under the juvenile court code. Actually the juvenile judge tries to do what is best for the child and only resorts to punishment as the last means.

Judge Brubaker classified the three types of juveniles as: Deliquents who break the state, health and moral laws; those who are neglected and lack something for proper living through the fault of their parents and the dependents, such as the crippled and physically handicapped.

The use of correction schools is usually the last resort taken by the courts; first all children are counselled by the court and most are usually placed on probation with frequent visits to the court as a requirement.

Facilities here for the handling of juveniles are the Children's Home where 50 children can be accommodated and foster home, in which at the present time another 50 are placed in throughout the city and county. Those in the Children's Home and foster homes are primarily those who have been neglected or are dependent childrn, Judge Brubaker said.

IN SUMMING up his observations of the juveniles in Fayette County, the speaker recommended the inclusion of special educational classes in the schools as one means of aid.

Each individual resident of this community should have a definite interest in the juvenile problems as each juvenile of today will be an adult resident in a few years and how well they become adjusted determines what kind of resident they will make and their children will make, Judge Brubaker said.

Not wishing to paint a bleak picture, Judge Brubaker said: "I do not want to say everything is rosy here in Fayette County, and according to our size, we probably have our share of difficulties compared to congested city area. While we have not had the sensational crimes of many areas, it's a short distance from the frying pan into the fire. If the conditions are present, you can't tell where lightning may strike. I therefore feel it is to the interest of the community if the problem be approached without alarm but with a conscientious effort to make it better if we can.

"You members of the Lions Club are helping with your eye conservation program, but I can think of two other ways in which an organization of this type might help.

"First, the children need somewhere to go and something to do. The swimming pool and park and the Little League baseball program have been steps in the right direction but it would be fine if a gathering place for the teen-agers such as a youth center could be established here. Too often our young people go off to other cities and we should try to keep them here.

"Second, the foundation of a BY Brothers organization here would help in the form of interest and attention as well as direction for the children. Such organization has worked successfully in other localities and has given a lot of satisfaction to the participants as well as helping the children.

TWO GUESTS were present. They were introduced by Joe White, who is their host while they are visiting this area. They are John Shaw and Bryce Osmond of Wagga Wagga, Australia.

White became acquainted with the parents of one of the men while stationed in Australia during World War II.

They are touring this country and Canada and will sail on Jan. 13 for England. They gave the Lions a brief summary of their travels to date. They left their homes last March and intend to return in June.

John Breiner, the general chairman of the 1956 Lions Club Minstrel Show announced that Don Gibson will serve as the interlocutor and that plans are rapidly nearing completion for the Feb. 28 show.

The next meeting of the club will be Jan. 17, when the district governor will be the guest. On Jan. 31 the annual get-to-gether of all four of the county's Lions clubs will be held here with Jeffersonville, Bloomingburg and Good Hope Clubs as guests.

JURORS TO MEET

The grand jury will meet Monday, Jan. 9 and the petit jury has been notified to report Jan. 16.

CASE CONTINUED

The divorce action of Carl Harris against Ruth Harris, when it came up for hearing in common pleas court Wednesday forenoon, was continued 30 days when it developed that the plaintiff had not paid expense money to the defendant.

DECISION GIVEN

The case of Marcella Lee Huff against Clifford McKinley Warner that originated in Justice C. R. Robinson's court at Jeffersonville, has been decided by Judge John P. Case, who dismissed the case without prejudice to the institution of a proper proceeding in accordance with law.

The defense had filed a motion for dismissal on grounds that the complainant was a minor and could not legally bring the action, and this formed the grounds for the dismissal.

TO USE TREES

GREENFIELD — The Sportsmen's organization will collect Christmas trees and use them for wildlife shelter. The trees will be collected at the curb.

The Japanese beetle, first detected in this country in 1916, has now been found as far west as the Mississippi Valley.

Girl Scouts Elect Officers Of Troop

Other new officers elected at that meeting were Neila Cousins, vice president, Rosemary Hargo, secretary, Patty Johns, treasurer, Roxie Caliman, news reporter and Rosemary Hargo, song leader.

Neila Cousins led discussion on song books for each of the girls. The past president, Aileen Hargo, called the meeting to order with the Girl Scout promise, with each girl repeating a law. Roll call and reports by the secretary and treasurer followed.

Guest for the meeting was Mrs. Betty Rhoades.

Work Has Started On New Buildings

Work has started on the city's new pre-fabricated steel building which is to house much of the city's street department equipment, including sweeper, grade trucks, leaf collector, etc.

The building, 40 by 64 feet, will be located on the east side of North Fayette Street, a few rods South of the B.&O. Railroad, on the lot which the city purchased a few weeks ago.

Tuesday City Manager James F. Parkinson did the surveying and set the stakes for the building. Excavation and foundation work will be pushed as weather permits.

Within a few weeks the building should be ready for use.

W. W. Montgomery At Trustee Meeting

W. W. Montgomery, county agent here and a trustee of the 4-H Club Camp Inc., attended the quarterly meeting of trustees for Camp Clifton in Springfield, Wednesday.

The organization operates the camp, near Yellow Springs in Greene County and serving a total of eight counties. Last year, according to Montgomery, over 2,200 4-H Club members and others were at the camp from June to August, with 232 persons from Fayette County attending.

Major improvements are planned for the campsite, Montgomery said, with the possibility of building additional cabins.

Swine Association Annual Meet Set

Plans for the annual meeting of the Swine Breeders and Feeders Association were wrapped up Tuesday evening at a session of the Association's directors and officers.

Highlights of the annual meeting, to be held at 8 P. M. Monday in the Farm Bureau auditorium, will be a panel discussion on "What Can We Do About the Hog Situation?" and election of 1956 officers and directors for Concord, Marion, Madison, Paint and Jasper Townships.

Also on the program for the meeting are Secretary C. E. Rhoad's report on the Association's goals and accomplishments during 1955 and a discussion of the proposed 1956 program with President Harry Craig in charge.

Serving on the panel to discuss possible remedies for slumping hog prices will be Howard Davison, hog salesman for the Eastern Order Buying Co. in Columbus; Clarence Wallace of the Kroger Co.; Dr. Ned Abbott, veterinarian; Delbert Morris, hog producer, and Herbert Barnes, swine specialist at Ohio State University.

"Since over 50 percent of the gross income on the farms of Fayette County comes from the sale of hogs," said County Agent W. W. Montgomery, "the subject of the panel is of real interest to all hog producers."

HULL HEADS BOARD

GREENFIELD — Joseph Hull was elected president of the board of education and Wilbur A. O'Dell was named clerk at a salary of $2,250 a year.

Enlistments Up Guard Strength

Company M Platoon Made More Mobile

Four new enlistments have moved Company M, National Guard unit here, a bit farther toward its goal of 100-man strength. There are 87 men in the unit now, with a drive being made to increase the unit strength.

Reorganization under new army regulations has changed the outfit's recoilless platoon to a completely mobile anti-tank platoon with six jeep-mounted recoilless rifles and other additional equipment.

Included in the reorganization are new ratings, adding several high non-commissioned officer ranks to the organization schedule.

Under other new regulations records of the Guard are being changed to match personnel records of the regular army. The switch in record form is designed to make the unit more mobile, according to Warrant Officer Robert Goodson.

Preparations are being made now for the annual armory inspection, scheduled for March 7.

The unit's small bore rifle team is now practicing for a rematch late in January for the annual rifle trophy. The team tied three ways with two other companies at a rifle match in December.

The four recent enlistees in the company are Harold R. Cox, Orville Mullins Jr., Sgt. Robert Lee Cyrus and SFC John Omer Hare.

Cox, 22, enlisted for three years. He has had three years of ROTC training, holds the rank of Private and will serve as company personnel clerk. A Washington C. H. resident, he is employed by the Record-Herald.

Mullins, 17, a Washington C. H. High School student, enlisted for three years. He'll be assigned a position in the company after four months of recruit platoon duty.

Sgt. Cyrus, who enlisted for three years, has had previous Guard duty and has served three years in the regular army. A Sinclair Service Station employee and Washington C. H. resident, he has been assigned duty as squad leader.

SFC Hare, a Jeffersonville resident, is a World War II veteran serving in Company M as chief fire data computer in the mortar platoon. An upholsterer in Jeffersonville, he has enlisted for three years.

In one out of every six fatal traffic accidents in 1954 the weather was rainy, snowy or foggy.

TO BORROW ON NOTE

GREENFIELD — Plans have been made to borrow $12,000 to meet and pay old bills, one of which is to J. D. Baker of Washington C. H. for $744 for street resurfacing.
